Preface
(Kim Jong Un Era Set Off)

The mankind has been studied for a long time about when and how this planet, their residence, and space are created.

But this issue has remained as an unsolved mystery for thousands of years and due to this issue, so many foolish theories were born and fooled the people. The "birth of Lord" and various religious mysteries clearly tell how the riddle of the universe was hard to solve.

The cosmogony had not been proved scientifically until Edwin Powell Hubble (Nov.20, 1889- Sep. 28, 1953) put forth the theory of the expansion of the universe.

Many hypotheses were reported relating to the initiation of the space.

A hypothesis is no more than a conjecture void of a scientific ground, yet it greatly helps to expound the origin of the space.

Attractive among them is the Steady State theory published in 1957 by American astrophysicist Martin Ryle.

He set up a hypothesis that the universe came into being 10-15 billion years before by a great explosion called a big bang.

Why do I mention this theory here? It is because the mankind witnesses a great political event in this 21" century.

Since the advent of a new young leader Kim Jong Un a new era, an era of Kim Jong Un, began to proceed in the DPRK which had been standing out with so amazing events on this planet.

I would name it in my own way a political big bang in Korea.

He made a debut on the world political arena in the autumnof2010.

The Iranian Central TV and other world media numbered his election to the successor in the Third Conference of the Workers' Party of Korea as one of world leading events for 2010.

In the spring of 2012 less than two years since then his first historical address was carried live broadly.

It was a scoop for the world media and they made a quick report such as "all the world as well as the Korean people are listening to his address", "an exceptional event happened", and some cracked the headlines "The Kim Jong Un era set off in Korea".

The scene of his first address to the public excited the world promptly announcing the start of the Kim Jong Un ere succeeding the eras of Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il.

The Kim Jong Un era sets off in Korea!

It is not a hypothesis like that of big bang, but a marvelous reality.

This world-focused political event was a matter of the greatest concern for me, a follower of the Songun policy.

It is also a matter my colleagues and friends are keen to know from me who have a friendly ties with Korean friends.

Therefore, I worked hard with the help of the Korean friends to find the answer on the political big bang of the 21" century, the start of the Kim Jong Un era and the subsequent wonders made in Korea.

What brought such wonders?

They were brought by the great leadership art of Korea's leader Kim Jong Un.

Characteristic of his leadership art may be summarized to be an absolute warm love to the Korean people, that is to say, a love-the-people politics.

His love-the-people politics unprecedented in the world political history has its source in the benevolent politics of President Kim Il Sung and leader Kim Jong Il, apart from which the political big bang of Korea is inconceivable.

The benevolent image made public in the world media captivated the world as well as the Korean people. His warm love of the people fortified the close link between the leader and the people and brought the spiritual force of the people into full play, the noble sentiments of the Korean people aspiring after a thriving and prosperous Korea.

The realities of Korea where the love-the-people politics is fully embodied clearly show the advent of the Kim Jong Un era.

I happened to read the following essay in the home page of the Brazil Committee for the Solidarity with the DPRK:

"At present one will count the supreme leader Kim Jong Un as the most attractive man in the international community. The scenes of his sharing the feeling with the people in a free and easy, unreserved and vigorous carriage make the viewer's feel warm and carried away in spite of themselves."

I think it speaks for the praise of the world progressives on the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un, benevolent, gracious and charming.

This sympathy and support to his love-the-people politics most keenly touched my heart while studying hard the present realities of Korea.

Therefore, I took his love-the-people politics as a seed of my writing among those factors leading to the secret of the advent of the Kim Jong Un era, the political big bang of Korea.

The love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un taken its source from the affectionate sentiments of the preceding leaders to the people is unparalleled in history in its width and depth. I am afraid that I can describe it enough.

However, I decided to take it up from the strong admiration for his love-the-people politics and in an ardent hope of his love-the-people song to resound throughout the world more vigorously.

I think it fortunate to put forth this book in spite of many defects, an expression of my conscience fervent with a strong sense of justice and a fruit of my sincere efforts, hoping it popular among the honest-minded readers.

1. Ideal and Aim of love-the-People Politics

Fervor of Praise in the World

An emergence of a new leader in any country is a matter of great concern of the world.

It is because in human history many politicians were sworn in office with a solemn oath and exuberant commitment with a golden wording and flowery eloquence, but after an assumption of office steered the political helm mistakenly to ruin the destiny of the nation and was thrown away from the history.

On that account the quick-witted world media would put loud meaning to the emergence of new heads of state and try to divine their fate and end in competition.

The succeeding of the leadership had proceeded with the order of the day in Korea in the turn of the century.

Naturally the concern of the world on the political situation of Korea was unprecedentedly great.

It was because the successor of President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II should be as good as the preceding leaders who steered the “Juche aircraft carrier'' called Korea victoriously along the course of the Juche era, independence era in the rough seas of this planet.

It is said that a nation hardly has a good luck once in a century. So then, would the Korean nation which had it in two generations enjoy another one in its third generation successively?

Nobody can say it definitely.

Korea is small territorially and in population, but a country of Juche and fortress of independence towering in the hub of the world politics.

The anti-socialist forces elated in the frustration of socialism in the former USSR and East European countries were desperate to pull down the only socialist fortress in the world.

The situation did not allow a moment's relaxation. At this time leader Kim Jong Un took upon himself the mission of paramount importance to safeguard the national sovereignty and prosperity and go on the historical errand of leadership succession.

What will he be like?

There was of course some concern whether the new leader of Korea could ever tide over the critical situation the country was facing in the rough contour of things where the sovereignty and dignity of the lesser nations is flatly violated and injustice tolerated and facilitated by the powers headed by the US and their followers and acute confrontation round the Korean peninsula.

However, at the moment when I saw in the TV his great image elected to the supreme leadership of the WPK in its third conference in September 2010 I assured myself that such a concern was quite worthless and keenly felt in ecstasy that it was not fortuitous that the Korean people had long followed him singing the song "Footsteps".

I was amazed above all at the fact that his image was as like as the one of President Kim Il Sung when he had been young. It seemed a revival of President Kim Il Sung. Nay, in a certain aspect he looked like leader Kim Jong Il. Isn't it a wonder done by the Heaven?

While the world focused attention on the new leader of Korea the retrieval website of the Google carried his name more than 200,000 times for three days.

The CNN reported widely that the successor Kim Jong Un was counted first in the vote for the "Ten Men of the Year" three months after he was in and a personage who met him had given rein to his feeling of admiration for him to the effect that "his smile is like the sun, his temperament a general and his personality peerless."

At this time sad news that leader Kim Jong Il suddenly passed away was broadcasted, plunging not only the Korean people, but also the world progressives, deep in sorrow.

Leader Kim Jong Il who made great exploits for the global independence upholding the banner of Songun had invited us his friends of Bangladesh to Pyongyang in festive occasions and given warm hospitality.

Though I have not seen him in many visits to Korea, at the moment I could not believe of his sudden death, a man who led the world politics with his outstanding ideological and theoretical activities, seasoned leadership and great benevolence, in a running train on his way of Songun march instead of an office room or mansion or hospital. Yet it was a stark fact.

The world media lauded the great personality of leader Kim Jong Un during the ten days of December 2011 when the world as well as Korea was wrapped in a solemn mourning.

A retrieve website of the US carried 67,400,000 presentations reporting his great personality during the ten days. Many media reported that it was rare.

The Voice of Russia, mentioning to it, reported that he was recorded to be the youngest of the leaders, who attracted great interest of the international community in the shortest span of time in the human history.

From then on the fervour of praise grew further day by day.

The Time magazine, as it had done from 1927, took an online ballot for the Men of the Year among the readers involving statesmen, businessmen and all other walks of life, where leader Kim Jong Un was counted first.

Reporting the ballot result the magazine noted that leader Kim Jong Un topped the list after the death of leader Kim Jong Il and he led the country strongly for the last one year.

Over 50 media in China held a "Chinese International News Forum 2012", an annual meeting, where he was also included in the list of Ten Men abroad under the unanimous support of the voters.

The Cambodian Akape news bulletin noted: Leader Kim Jong Un jumped on the list of the men of the world soon after he was elected to the Vice-Chairmanship of the Party Central Military Commission to appear officially on the political arena. Leading world media put his name on the list of the men of the world in 2012 too. Their comment on him was that he commanded utmost attention in the shortest span of time in human history.

One of the Chinese media put him on the top of the list of the men of the world in 2013.

His political activities are now becoming a scoop and a focus of the international politics.

The report on his first address to the public and his New Year's Address 2013 were given prominent coverage by over 10,000 world media and a total of tens of billion people saw or heard of it from TV and radio.

More than 20,000 world media carried the photographs and documentaries of his political activities one after another from the day third conference of WPK held to September, 2012. It alone demonstrates the degree of the fervour of praise about him

An Italian personage said: Korea, though small, is moving the world at a central point of the world politics with great power. The power of moving it is sourced in the sunlight. In other words Comrade Kim Jong Un is the sun of the world. Korea led by the great sun guides the world along the road of Juche with a firm conviction.

Officials of the Peace Fund of Africa awarded a peace prize and diploma to leader Kim Jong Un who is contributing greatly to the world peace and the Bulgarian Anti-fascist League gave him the title of an honorary activist of the anti-fascist movement.

The Bali-based Sukarno Center in Indonesia awarded its annual prize for global statesmanship to leader Kim Jong Un, hailing him as a champion in the fight against neocolonialism and imperialism.

Rachmawati Soekamoputri, Founder of Soekamo Foundation for Education and Bung Kama University, a daughter of Indonesia's founding president, after whom the award is named, said to the people concerned as followed.

"We will give the award to leader Kim Jong Un because he has been consistent in carrying out the ideals of the great leader, President Kim II Sung, which is to fight imperialism,"

The Sukarno Prize, traditionally handed out in recognition of contributions to world peace and development, has previously been awarded to luminaries such as Aung San Suu Kyi of Myanmar and India's Mahatma Gandhi.
Rachmawati noted that the Sukarno Center had previously presented the award to President Kim Il Sung, whom she called a hero of independence and peace.
"So this will be a sequel, where we give the award to leader Kim Jong Un for his persistence in fighting neocolonialism," she said.

Many personages in all walks of life including Hose Leon Vega, the first vice-chairman of the Cuban Committee for the Support of Korea's Reunification published many poems including "New Star over Korea", "Glory to You, Kim Jong Un!" "Following Footsteps of General Kim Jong Un" and "I Sing in Praise of You·.

There are two words and phrases most frequently mentioned and making a twin out of the world voices in the praises of the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un who fascinates the mankind with great affinity in the centre of the world politics: Songun and people and Songun politics and love-the-people politics.

These words and phrases clearly implicate that Songun is for the wellbeing of the people and the Songun politics is grounded on the love-the-people politics.

Then, what is the love-the-people politics so much praised?

Kim Jong Un's Land of Promise-Socialist Thriving Nation

Days before I read an article praising leader Kim Jong Un on the home page of the newspaper Blitz of Bangladesh. The article wrote about his love-the- people as follows: H.E. Kim Jong Un embodies in himself H.E. Kim Jong Il's love-the-people viewpoint....H.E. Kim Jong Un is an affectionate father of the Korean people and the sun of their destiny to be loyal to the end of our life.

It is natural that he who loves the people and devotes his all to them deserves to get the love of them.

The world progressive people say that the love of the people is a starting point of his thinking and activities and the highest principle and aim of his politics and vie to praise of him that the noble traits of his love of the people are inconceivable apart from his view of the people.

His view of the people the world praises so high is fraught with a simple, clear and profound philosophy.

Leader Kim Jong Un was proud of the Korean people as "our people best in the world" in his first public address and announced them as "the people most excellent in the world" in his first New Year's Address.

His words comprise the President Kim Il Sung's and leader Kim Jong Il's idea and view of the people, that is, believing in the people as in Heaven: Man is the most precious and powerful being in the world, the masses of the people are the masters of the revolution and construction and they have the power capable of propelling the revolution and construction and since they are the one as high as the Heaven, everything is geared to their benefit and should be placed in their service.

I heard a story that succeeding the view of the people of the preceding leaders he continued the trip for the on- the-spot guidance day and night. One day in a spring officials expressed their concern for his health on the way. He said: Don't worry about my working the nights away. I am only thinking about how I can solve the problem of the economy and people's livelihood.

We are all sons and daughters of the people. We have to devote our all to them as befitted their sons and daughters. We have to improve the national economy and people's livelihood worthy of the sons and daughters of the people born and bred on this land in order to turn our country into a socialist powerful nation all is thriving....

This is a total aim of the revolutionary cause of leader Kim Jong Un who succeeds the blood of Mt. Paektu.

The aim of building a thriving nation he, a son and leader of the people, put forth swept the Korean people with ecstasy and created a sensation in the world thanks to its far-reaching aspiration and beautiful and noble idea.

He made his first address in the military parade celebrating the centenary of the birth of great President Kim Il Sung.

However, the 100-year history of Kim Il Sung's nation brought the curtain down on the history full of vicissitudes, and has raised the dignity of our country and nation to the highest level in their history.

The geopolitical position of our country is the same as ever, but the weak country of yesterday which was trodden underfoot as a theatre where the big powers fought to expand the sphere of their influence, has now been turned into a proud political and military power and our people are demonstrating their dignity as an independent people whom no one dares to provoke.

The military and technological edge is no longer the monopoly of the imperialists, and the ear is gone forever when the enemy would threaten us with atomic bombs.

It is the firm determination of our Party to ensure that our people, who are the best in the world and who has remained faithful to the Party in the face of all manner of difficulties, do not have to tighten their belts again, but enjoy all the benefits of socialism.

The world media vied to feature his address.

The German MS touring company wrote an article on the internet: Love of the people is a starting point of the leader Kim Jong Un's thinking and activities and a supreme principle of his politics. He said that it is a firm determination of the Workers' Party of Korea to make the Korean people live at the height of the socialist prosperity to their hearts content without again tightening the belt. He has a view that the people are most precious in the world and a leader is justified when he is in the service to the people.

How great is his noble aim and ideal that he would build a socialist thriving nation to make them live at the height of the socialist prosperity to their heart's content.

His is a great ideal of the leader who has determined to bring the people's ideal into beautiful bloom and the socialist thriving nation where the people enjoy the socialist wealth to their heart's content is a great land of promise of the leader the people long wished for.

I would call it Kim Jong Un's land of promise.

There is something noteworthy here.

The ideal of the people will only come true when a leader takes it as his own.

It was so in the long time past or is so at present too.

In human history there are many stories about the beautiful land of promise the people so much wished to live in.

But all these Shangri-La's ended up with a sweet story of dreams because the rulers did not recognize them from the start.

Thomas More, a man who lives for ages for his literary work "Utopia" in which he depicted the aspiration of the small proprietors and working people for a happy society free from exploitation and oppression with his ideal island clear of any private property so as to lay the foundation of the utopian socialism, had his throat cut by despot Henry VIII in the London Tower.

He was a Chancellor and lawyer during Henry VIII's reign, but he could not avoid misfortune for his opposition to the acts of the despot king who killed Queens and many others cruelly and finally attempted to separate the Church of England from the Roman papacy to become the head of the Church. He did not give up his "Utopia" even at the moment the axe fell on his head, and said to his daughter: Be of good cheer. Don't be mean for the sake of justice. This story tells how ardently he loved his utopia and is living till today touching the string of our heart.

Similar stories may be found in the stories written by Korean writers as well as those of Bangladesh. Those stories have now been buried by time.

An eager desire of the people for a utopian land and their bloody struggle for it was culminated in the modern ages to such a gigantic struggle as the October socialist revolution and heralded the birth of socialism where the people are the masters.

However, the collapse of socialism ceased the 70 years' retention of the former USSR and the East European socialist countries and cast again dark clouds over the human history.

Now the Western world took advantage of this opportunity to hype the capitalist "triumph" and "prosperity" with such phrases as "civilized nation" or a "welfare society", but they regard the masses of the people as wretched life, a means for politics or an appendage for the creation of values, defiling them as "cattle needing only a whip, yoke and feedstuff". I do not think there is any "civilization" or "welfare" and any hope of the people's ideal and dream come true.

At this very moment leader Kim Jong Undefined the building of the civilized socialist thriving nation where the people would enjoy the socialist wealth to their heart's content as the final aim of the state building and clearly expounded the ways for its realization. It really is a great exploit illuminating the way to carry out the socialist cause of Songun Korea and the global independence.

Today in Korea the building of the socialist thriving nation, a land of promise of leader Kim Jong Un, is advancing in an unusually sweeping tempo, and Korea leaping and advancing day by day is mirrored as a beautiful figure to the mankind

2. My View on love-the-people Politics

Leader Kim Jong Un and the Motto "People Are My Master"

A century ago Thomas Alva Edison published 11 prophecies in the magazine Cosmopolitan in 1911.

Some were fulfilled and some others not.

Though there is no need to go to the details of them here, I would like to refer to one of his golden remarks below: the day will come when the science create a terrible and frightful machine or power which even those, who like fights for charging sufferings and death to the others, would stand in fear of them and abandon a war.

More would be unaware of this than those who know.

Unfortunately the science could not make so far such a machine or power capable of forcing any jingoist to abandon a war.

However, with the idea of attaching importance to arms set forth by President Kim II Sung and the Songun policy exercised by leader Kim Jong II the mankind could have such a "machine• and "power" that can put the seal of finality to war.

The Songun politics is the most powerful "machine" and "power" that the mankind so much wished to have. I think it came from his warm love of the people.

The love-the-people policy of leader Kim Jong Un that demands to love and set great store by the people and rely on them in all works has, as seen above, a thread of connection with the Songun politics that defends the destiny, dignity and sovereignty of the people.

I remind you that the motive power of Songun is the people and the implementor of the Songun Politics is also the people.

The enthusiastic praise of the world to the love-the-politics of leader Kim Jong Un today is fully natural and justified in this sense to.

Sicotigent Mark of the French Oist Solarenergy Co. Ltd expressed his impression on the visit to Korea as follows:

The Westerners have a wrong understanding about Korea because of the forged propaganda. But the realities deny it. All is stabilized in Korea and all people are engaging in work full of vitality. Witnessing what happened in Korea I was deeply impressed Joulian Juk, Secretary General of the International Union of Agricultural and Foodstuff Workers Union, saying that he had a correct understanding through the visit to Korea, noted: Everything I saw, heard and felt is beyond imagination. The realities in Korea are quite different from what the Western media say. Actually everything serves for the people and the working people are the master of everything.

Those who have never been to Korea do not know of these realities in Korea and those who have been to also feel admiration but have no correct understanding on the reason.

As I have already said above that the motive and purpose I write this book is to expound that the key to all the successes achieved in Korea, a country all those visiting highly speak of as a "mysterious country" or a "country creating a miracle", lies in the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un who made the motto "People are my Master" as his popular viewpoint and make it a wide publicity

To begin with I think it necessary to mention more in detail to the "People are my Master" which gives the philosophical bases of the love-the-people politics.

The "People are my Master" has been President Kim II Sung's lifetime view. He wrote in his reminiscences "With the Century":

"'To believe in the people as in heaven' has been my constant view and motto.

Really meaningful words.

It summarizes his man-centred philosophical idea. It is a fundamental factor that made the socialist system of Korea a model of a people-centered land of promise.

The "People are my Master" is also the lifetime motto of leader Kim Jong II.

He said that an almighty being on earth, if any, is not the Lord, but the people, and if they wish, we have to bring the impossible into reality.

Looking up to President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II who devoted their lifetime regarding them their Master and mentor the Korean people say that if the people are their Heaven they are the sun of the Heaven and if the people are their mentor the great masters of the mentor are President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II.

Inheriting the predecessors' idea of the "People are my Master" intact as his view of the people, leader Kim Jong Un clarified his will that he would serve them as the great leader President Kim II Sung and leader

Kim Jong II had done and work our fingers to the bone for the people.

It is absolute requirement that all the cadres must share life and death, sweets and bitters with them and dedicate their all and work in earnest for them. By so doing, they would cheer on the Party not only in a rally, but also when they are alone in a far-off island or deep mountains

As seen above, his fascinating love-the-people politics is one he brilliantly embodied the viewpoint of the preceding leaders on the people most perfectly and implemented it brilliantly.

There is one of the reasons that they do not spare their praise and support to his love-the-people politics saying that it is a politics succeeding and reflecting the predecessors' idea of the "People are my Master".

A "politics making a close access to the people", "the First Chairman Kim Jong Un is a leader who loves the people infinitely" and "the world now speaks highly of his love-the-people politics."..... These are only a few of the praises of the progressive people on his love-the-people politics.

The human political history illustrate the ideals that claimed to set a principal value by the benevolent government and many politicians who tried to win popularity. However, nowhere to be found is a politics to name one of love and trust for the people in the true sense of the word except the one exercised in Korea.

Leader Kim Jong Un made the idea of the "People are my Master" of President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II his motto, regarding the pain for the people as his joy and finding the greatest pleasure in the happiness of the people.

His benevolent image is a venerable one that can be possessed by a genuine leader and statesman gifted with the love and respect of the people.

It is commonplace in other countries that people fling a copper to the beggars. Those who disregard them are blamed and the same are even those who do not spare a copper.

The US also has a system of unemployment dole, medical insurance and meal service.

Then is it a popular policy? No. The "welfare" policy in the Western world is not clearly a policy for the people.

The capitalists, an exploiter class, who squeeze the workers with the great capital for surplus profits and more wealth can have hypocritical sympathy, but not a bit of sincere love of the people.

Indeed, the capitalist media too deplore and make a caricature of it.

On the contrary, the worldwide admiration and envy for the love-the-people policy of leader Kim Jong Un is a feedback of the mankind's aspiration after the love and happiness.

I fully realized in visits to Pyongyang that the centuries-old aspiration of the mankind is really put into effect in Pyongyang fully eligible for a sacred place of the progressive people.

Then how is the love-the-people politics in force in Korea and what are its features?

Vacancy Cannot Be Tolerated in Succession of Loving People

Politics has tradition. The tradition presupposes a succession. A politics without a succession is certain to go its doom.

There are many factors in the collapse of the former USSR and the East European countries, the main factor of which was the failure in election of a genuine successor.

As for the former USSR, after the death of Stalin faithful to the cause of Lenin, the supreme post was taken by Khrushchev, Gorvachov, Yeltzin and other traitors who led the country to the quagmire of revisionism and capitulationism instead of the succession of their tradition.

However, in Korea the cause of President Kim Il Sung was completely succeeded by leader Kim Jong Il after his death (July 8, 1994} and now it is brilliantly succeeded by leader Kim Jong Un.

The blessing of having leaders, commanders and successors generation after generation is the greatest of fortunes bestowed by the Heaven.

Russian paper Our Home Sochi wrote as follows: Characteristic of his ways of leadership of leader Kim Jong Un is a complete succession of the cause of his predecessors to practice a love-the-people politics.

It means that he sets greatest store by the succeeding of the love-the-people politics, the core of the way of politics of the preceding leaders.

Succession is one of the most important aspects in his love-the-people politics.

There cannot be a tiny vacuum in the succession of the cause of the preceding leaders.

Although leader Kim Jong Il left the supreme position of the country in vacancy for many years after President Kim Il Sung passed away in July 1994, he did never allowed to make a moment's vacuum in succeeding the cause of the preceding leader, in particular his policy of benevolence.

Leader Kim Jong Un took care of the people in the same way as leader Kim Jong Il had done in his lifetime in those days of great national mourning after his sudden death in December 2011 while overcoming his own bitter grief to give the Korean people a spiritual mainstay that he is as always with them and ascertain them that his policy of loving the people is continued as it was.

One day a friend of mine living in Dhaka called on me quite excited and showed me a news bulletin entitled "General Kim Jong Un, the very image of President Kim Il Sung", which read: ...amazingly a like image. The new young leader of Korea General Kim Jong Un with his face, smile, gait full of confidence and even his gestures .... make one have an illusion that President Kim Il Sung, founder of Korea, was brought to life again. When he smiles it seems to see him in his 33 of age who was leading Korea after the death of the Japanese imperialists."

Indeed, it was an impressive writing not for the talent of describing, but for the effusion of excitement for the manner of a peerless great man.

I also showed him a following article by the British Songun Politics Study Society: "The legendary stories in the December days of the national mourning are an epitome of the noble love of the people of leader Kim Jong Un as like as General Kim Jong Il . There is no such great leader-benevolent father of the people as leader Kim Jong Un in all times and places who was aware of the grief of the people writhing in torment for the loss of General Kim Jong Il and took meticulous care after them over his own grief. If it is for the good of the people, there is nothing impossible and we have nothing to spare and the officials should become servants of the people-it is his maxim and view of life.

As long as leader Kim Jong Un brilliantly embodies the politics of benevolence of President Kim Il Sung and General Kim Jong Il, the single-hearted unity of Songun Korea will become stronger and the flower garden of benevolence grow more beautiful."

My friend disclosed his inmost thoughts that as the saying "handsome is that handsome does" leader Kim Jong Un was as like as President Kim Il Sung and General Kim Jong Il in his conspicuous manners and lofty benevolence to the people.

That day we lost count of time talking with him about the stories on the benevolence to the people in Korea.

As was known widely, his special care for the people during the ten days of condolences after the sudden death of leader Kim Jong Il attracted the attention of the international community.

Below is some of the stories.

On December 20, 2011 he visited the sites of condolence arranged outdoor in the Kim Il Sung Square and many other places of the city, where he stood long glued seeing the people in mourning bitterly calling General Kim Jong Il . Then he said to the officials in a tearful voice: Our people are really good people. Let us work our fingers to the bone for the good of them.

Let us work our fingers to the bone for the good of them-it is an aphorism summarizing his affection to the people.

He sent a following autograph letter to the officials on December 23, 2011:

During the days of the funeral event priority should be put to protecting the interests of the people and providing them with all the conveniences in taking the thorough measures of medical care and warm drinking water.

The officials have to go to the sites of condolences in shifts and hours to console the people coming there in these biting cold winter days and share the grief with them instead of worrying in the office so as to overcome this hard period.

They have to keep in mind that if General Kim Jong Il knows that the people are trembling in cold winter nights he would be grieved over it, and put absolute priority to the conveniences of the people.

Thus the officials went to the sites of condolences in the capital city to increase clinics and first-aid centres, hot drink booths and other conveniences facilities. Meanwhile, he gave them another instructions to insure that the people visiting the sites and those keeping vigil take caps or scarves and gloves or earmuffs and take off only when extending condolences and see to prevent them from feeling any inconveniences or getting frostbitten in this cold weather..

Next day he sent them many exothermic straps and soles for those keeping vigil.

On December 25 he saw to supply sugar, honey, powdered milk, bread or cakes to the sites of condolences in the Pyongyang city saying that it would be better to provide those visiting the sites with sweet drink than insipid water and took additional thorough medicate measures to prevent the visitors and those keeping vigil from getting cold or frostbitten.

It is said that that day he also took measures to supply them paper for making wreaths and flowers and install booths to provide the callers with flowers.

On December 18 the next day of the national mourning a fishing fleet arrived at a port of the Korea's East Sea with a full load of myongtae and herring. The fishes were scheduled to be supplied to the people on the New Year's Day 2012 by the instruction of leader Kim Jong Il since he had ratified the fish supply document at 9:13 p.m. of December 16 just one day before his death.

Leader Kim Jong Un, very much concerned about the fish, said to supply it to the citizens as soon as possible and took an emergency measure to enlist the People's Army men to transport it by a special train and gave a personal written instruction to the officials.

Hence an amazing rare sight of supplying fishes to the citizens was presented during the national mourning.

So warm and meticulous is his love of the people. Indeed, it was emotional to all hearing the stories.

There is another story about a sportsman who had gone abroad for treatment during the days of mourning. The hero of the story is said to be an ordinary couch.

He was long bed-ridden. The state placed him under medical care of all sorts in renowned hospitals and sanatoriums, but no improvement in his health.

Knowing this General Kim Jong II bestowed him a great benevolence for him to get treatment abroad.

However, having heard the sudden sad news of leader Kim Jong II 's death he refused to go abroad for the treatment.

Leader Kim Jong Un knew this and instructed the officials to send him abroad at the fixed date without question.

This is how a special plane with a sportsman aboard took off the Pyongyang airport..

The benevolence he bestowed to the Korean people during the days of condolences was the succession of the idea of the "People are my Master" upheld by President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II, affectionate fathers of the Korean people. The succession elevates the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Unto a higher plane.

There is no point of adding any explanation.

I would like to quote below a passage from an article compiled respectfully with his portrait on the internet by the Communist Party of Russia: The features of leader Kim Jong Un are all prominent, of which the most admirable is his infinitely high moral repute. When Kim Jong II, Chairman of the Defense Committee, passed away all of a sudden the Korean people, in torment of greatest loss and grief, kept vigil by themselves in the outdoor sites of condolences arranged in many places in the biting cold.

He took emergency measures to arrange the warming places near the sites and supply the callers with tea or honeyed drink and saw to put priority to their conveniences.

As the time flows by the world keenly felt his features of benevolence.

All for the good of the people-this is the focal point in all his thinking and activities.

I quote below a passage about the succession from the impression on after his visit to their motherland as follows:

All our compatriots who visited the north were moved. We could see that the whole society of the north is run through with the history of love as well as the one of revolution of the preceding leaders and the feeling of the admiration and respect to the supreme leader Kim Jong Un is seething like molten iron in a furnace. The people we met were different from each other, but what they said was unanimous that respected Marshal Kim Jong Un reads the mind of the people through and through and fulfills only what they desire as General Kim Jong II did. It brought to our heart a firm confidence in the bright future of the nation.

Characteristics of the Love-the-People Politics

Love works a miracle.

A scientific theory or prominent leadership alone cannot move the heart of the people.

More important is the love of the people. It is an inexhaustible power capable of inspiring the thousands upon thousands of the people to work a miracle.

The international community sees so noble and great love of the people in leader Kim Jong Un of the DPRK.

Therefore, I makes a separate subject about the love-the-people politics with an intention to characterize it in my own way.

His love of the people is a lofty enthusiastic love as their affectionate father and great comrade.

All his thinking and practices are directed to the soldiers and people.

For him they belong to his family and are his comrades-in-arms in the same boat. That is why he continues his journey to see them and give them guidance on the spot.

He pays a special concern for the fate and life of those mentally suffering and the children without parents.

When he receives a report on those who sacrificed themselves for the sake of their country and people, his heart bleeds more than anybody else and he would put them on the list of being remembered for all ages.

The days and months he spends are full of epics of the legendary love of the soldiers and people.

There have been no leader for all ages like him who embraced the orphans in tears and built the most excellent home for them with a far-sighted aim of bringing them up to doctors or heroes.

There is no supreme commander even in legends who made himself the owner of the graves of the martyrs who sacrificed themselves on duty.

The only criterion of his activities is the demand, interests and evaluation of the people.

His firm resolve and will is that those in authority and bureaucrats despising the people, encroaching their interests and seeking pleasure at the cost of their blood and sweat have no right to breathe under the sky of Korea.

His love is a sacred devotion of his life to the good of the people.

He continues his trip to guide the soldiers and people on the spot.

He inspected the outposts of the eastern coast where the enemies are leveling their guns. Soon he went to inspect the People's Theatre near completion in Pyongyang and congratulated women celebrating the March 8 International Women's Day 2012. Straight out he visited the islet defending units of the western coastal outposts. Soon he guided the manoeuvring of the battle ships newly built and then again went to Pyongyang to give on-the-spot guidance to the textile mill. It was a super intensity forced march round the clock in the true sense of the word.

The moving scenes when he was seeing round the building sites of the Okryu Children's Hospital and Ryugyong Dental Hospital in a pouring rain and personally got aboard the tourist cable car to examine the safety of it on a test operation on a giddy height of the Masikryong Ski Resort are deeply impressed in the heart of the Korean people.

His constant view is that his one year's suffering brings a decade's leap forward of the nation.

He is really a great father the Korean people and soldiers cannot live apart even a moment.

The scenes of the soldiers of the islet defending units who were plunging themselves in the water of the sea seeing him off in tears and the working people of various circles surrounding and clinging to him testify the sincerity of the Korean people.

The world has seen it clearly in the TV.

Love is the detonator of the miracle.

The wonders of socialist Korea leaping forward toward a thriving nation are sourced in this inseparable kinship between the leader and people.

A strong nation does not mean the possession of billions of rich or sophisticated powerful weapons, but overflowing love.

Undying is the strong nation built up with the power of love. This is the characteristics of the love-the-people politics in Korea.

This is my general view that found seeing the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un and the realities inflorescent under it in Korea

I would like to give a more detailed analysis on the characteristics of the love-the-people politics, a unique way of politics, of leader Kim Jong Un below.

Do-or-die, No End to the Devotion

I think love is a feeling of admiration.

Every man has his own interpretation on love. Some say it is a devotion, others mutual understanding and still others concession.

It is because the love is a feeling most beautiful and valuable and its depth and width are infinite.

The warmer it is, the greater his or her devotion for it.

So I claim love is a devotion and vice versa.

There are many beautiful stories about it. How many legendary stories about it in our Bangladesh too!

I liked fairy tales from childhood. So I heard many stories about it. They are still vivid in my memory and gives me the pride on my loving country Bangladesh...

However, if someone asks me to tell the stories on the love and devotion, I would tell him the stories on the love-the-people politics of Korea's leader Kim Jong Un instead of a fairy tale or legend.

It is because his love of the people is an example of the most beautiful and greatest love in the world.

His love-the-people politics, an embodiment of the "People are my Master" idea of the preceding leaders, is a clear manifestation of the devotion which implicates that there is nothing to spare if it is for the good of the people.

In the hottest season in Korea too he would go to the people and soldiers for the on-the-spot guidance instead of any summer resort.

When his attendants asked him to have a moment's rest on the way to the on-the-spot guidance, he answered as follows:

I will do my best for the sake of our Party, army and people keeping their expectation and trust in mind all the time. I am ready for making the sacrifice of myself for the sake of the country and people if need be.

Such a declaration from a head of state has never been found in any country or any time of history.

The supreme leader of Korea Kim Jong Un went to see the people and soldiers on the outposts with this resolution.

There is an islet called Mu islet in the West Sea of Korea too small to be marked in an ordinary map. Yet it is said to be very important strategically.

For example, in the last Korean war (June 25, 1950-July 27, 1953) a company grade coastal artillery of the KPA postponed the landing operation of Incheon commanded by five-star general MacArthur (it is said that the US committed 50,000 forces of the tenth army corps, hundreds of vessels and more than a thousand aircraft to the operation) for three days with only four guns and a force of one infantry company to frustrate the tactical scheme of the US troops. This example proves why such an importance is attached to such an insignificant islet.

Moreover, the Mu islet, though small, is a strategic point located in the hot spot of the West Sea of Korea and near the Yonphyong island where the south Korean army is entrenched.

In 2010 the KPA and south Korean army engaged in a fierce battle in this area.

It was a ruthless counterstrike for the reckless firing of the northward invasion-oriented south Korean army to the Korean territorial waters disregarding the repeated warning of the KPA.

At the time the Yonphyong island reduced to a hell of fire in a moment, south Korean military barracks flew to pieces and the south Korean guns proud of technical supremacy smashed without firing a shell. The sea routes were overcrowded with refugees and the south Korean forces side made a pathetic appeal to the Korean side to stop the barrage of fire.

Then how did the affairs develop?

The south Korean ruler and military inverted the state of affairs vociferating a north's "provocation" and keyed up the situation saying to set up a command for the defense of five islands, increase the marines, import a gun-fire locating system and submarine detecting system and make defense facilities permanent and were mad to the military provocations speaking loudly about a "revenge".

Accordingly, the situation was always tense round the area. He said that he was going to visit the islet located in such a dangerous hot spot for an inspection of the unit on the spot. The commanding officers tried to dissuade him from going there, when he said:

There are my soldiers in the islet. I have to go there without fail to see the soldiers who undergo military service in such an out-of-the-way islet so that they can serve with the memory of meeting me. If I cannot go by ship for the bad sea weather, I will go swimming with a sucker for breathing....

Who on earth can check the way of the supreme commander with such a do-or-die spirit.

That day he went to the Mu and Jangjae islets aboard a small wooden boat of 27 h.p. instead of a warship to inspect the islet defending units there.

As soon as these scenes were on the air through TV, the world media gave prominent coverage about his extraordinary mettle and courage and stinted no words about his great personality as a brilliant commander.

Following is a paragraph from an article on the internet on the small wooden boat he was aboard:

What did the people of the north feel seeing the dramatically contrastive scene of leader Kim Jong Un giving love and blessing to the children in the tense forefront where an air of armed clash is hovering. They would have hardened their will to believe in their supreme leader absolutely and follow him to the end along the path of Songun revolution....It looks a sign of the mettle and courage of the First Chairman Kim Jong Un that the small wooden boat of 27 hp he was aboard can curb invading nuclear-powered carrier "George Washington" propelled by two reactors and 4 super turbine

When he was inspecting the islet units, he met the wife of an officer. He asked her about her husband. She felt so fretful for being unable to stand her husband on a tour of duty beside her that she could not repress the tears.

The entourage and the commanding officers of the unit were at a loss.

He persuaded her. He said to her: Your husband would be much pleased to see the photograph taken with your baby son in my arms. Then he took the officer's son in his arms and had a photograph taken, the baby's mother aside.

The newspapers and the TV carried the photograph. The six-months old baby called Jong Hang Myong became a favorite child known throughout the country and concerned by all the Korean people.

Next year when he came again to the Jangjae islet he kept his birthday in mind and brought to him armful birthday presents.

His heart being so tender and warm, he continued his trip to see the soldiers and people and give them love with a firm resolve to devote himself to the country and the people.

In Kangwon Province in Korea stands very steep Mt. Osong. The mountain is said to be as high as more than a thousand metres above sea level with 151 curves of steep precipices. Besides, it is a place facing the south Korean army only hundreds of metres away

It is said that leader Kim Jong II was climbing the height on his way to the outposts to see the soldiers there. He found the car floundering up through the muddy road was suddenly sliding back down to the steep precipice. At the critical moment he immediately put his shoulder to the wheel and pushed it towards the height.

From that time the Korean people and army men were yearning for him more than ever, seeing the Mt. Osong and calling it Songun mountain.

Leader Kim Jong Unfound his way to the outposts in the Mt. Osong inJune2013.

While he was looking round the posts he said to the officers he would go to see the post on the Kachil Peak nearest to the opposite enemy posts.

The post was so near to the enemy's as to hear him

When Is the Courage in Need?

The love and devotion of leader Kim Jong Un for the Korean people is the noblest one not counting on an honor, appreciation or price. I presume it is because they are not from an affectation, but from a natural disposition born of the Paektusan family, the pride of the Korean people.

A personality should be natural. Only then it is genuine and eligible to be recorded in the chapters of history.

Napoleon Bonaparte was known to be benevolent, magnanimous and unassuming because he remembered the names of many soldiers.

How could he remember so many of them?

When he inspects one post he would ask the names of the soldiers on duty on the next post in order to win their favour.

Then on the next post he would have a talk with the soldiers calling their names.

I smiled a sardonic smile reading a book on Napoleon. Hundreds of years after his time I happened to hear a story on a great man gifted with love and devotion as a natural disposition in Korea, a beautiful country in the East.

The story is on the Kaeson Youth Park in Pyongyang.

Pyongyang is halved in the middle by River Taedong.

On a bank of the River Taedong, one of the six long rivers in Korea, is Moran Hill, at the foot of which there stand Kim II Sung Stadium and Arch of Triumph where President Kim II Sung gave a reputed address after he had freed Korea from the Japanese imperialists. In the address he appealed that those with money contribute with money, those with knowledge with knowledge and those with strength with strength to building up a new democratic Korea.

Nearby there is the above-said park.

It was built on the initiative of leader Kim Jong II. It is furnished with high-level sophisticated entertainments facilities and at nights it turns into a night less quarters where the happy laughter of the people is ceaseless.

On April 22, 2010, a day fresh with spring verdure at the beautiful Moran Hill, leader Kim Jong Un, accompanying leader Kim Jong II, visited the park where the assembly of the facilities was near completion and the facilities were about to into the test run. They saw the rotating disc, swing boat and diving tower before they went to the flying roller coaster.

Leader Kim Jong II was briefed about the flying roller coaster and said: Though they thoroughly guarantee the safety of this amusement device, the officials have to test it beforehand if the people are to feel at ease when they use it. So the officials here first have to try it.

Leader Kim Jong Un went to the flying roller coaster together with other officials.

One of the officials tried to dissuade him from taking part in the trying run of it, but leader Kim Jong Un got on it ahead.

At the time, it is said, the operators of the machine had not done a perfect test of its safety and contented themselves with the test run because its speed was very rapid, the slopes and curves of the railway were very sharp and it rotates the cockpit by 360"

However, he said climbing on the coaster ahead of others that since it had to be used by our people he himself had to have a test run first. He himself took the control lever, saying: It is the time the courage is really in need.

His words tell a profound philosophy that the courage has to be displayed at the time of devotion to the people. They brought home to me his view of love intending to put everything subject to the people and dedicate his all to them.

The roller coaster he was on began to run as swift as an arrow with great noise.

The roller coaster ran nose-diving, rotating a full circle or skyrocketing or making a rapid tum getting the viewers highly strained.

At last the coaster pulled up. And getting down he instructed the officials earnestly: The test run is all right, but it would be better for the old and weak to refrain from using it and the operator side has to see that safety is fully guaranteed by laying down a strict order and rule of using the machine.

On April 25 three days after he, accompanying leader Kim Jong II, went to the park again to repeat the test run of the diving tower and other devices for their safety.

The diving tower with the players on goes straight up and down at a speed of 15m/sup to 54 ms high. When he had been there last they could not operate it after assembly for some technical problems unsettled.

He suggested them to begin the test run from the diving tower and seated himself on the chair of the tower.

After a while the operator finished the examination of its safety. He no sooner pressed the button, than the chair chute with leader Kim Jong Un on shot up in a split second to the top 54 m high up and soon nosed down to the original position.

After twice test run he got down the seat. He said he felt somewhat giddy at the second time, but higher up he felt quite good.

He mounted the flying roller coaster again and made a test run of the double rotating disc, railed rotating disc, swing boat and other playing devices too.

He said scrupulously: The capacity of the apparatuses has to be increased to give more thrilling to the visitors. Some fear would add to the thrill. And some apparatuses should have the playing time lengthened

As seen above, he visited the park twice to have personally a test run of apparatuses to affirm the safety of the people instead of his own.

His love of the soldiers and the people found its expression in the newly built Masikryong Ski Resort. He went up on an ordinary open cable car all alone in spite of the officials' dissuasion to the top of the Taehwa Peak highest in the ski resort.

Rodong Sinmun, a leading newspaper in Korea, reported the scene as follows:

Our respected Marshal visited the Masikryong Ski Resort, an excellent monument of the Songun Era. There he got on a cable car to be used by the people, and had a test run beforehand to the top of the hill to ascertain its safety and utility.

Looking up to the scene the people across the country were surprised.

Where and when have you heard that a leader of a nation got on an ordinary cable car yet to be tried by the builders and architects to go up to the zero point of the pass where even wild birds would be hesitant to fly over to affirm himself the safety and utility of the apparatus for the people.

One must be courageous if he is determined to serve the people!

His love, devotion, courage and all other dispositions are subject to the good of the people.

3. Leader Kim Jong Un and "People-bound Train"

If you want to know of the love-the-people policy you have to first know of the "people-bound train".

The "people-bound train" means a train going to the people.

When President Kim Il Sung engaged in the communist movement in Jilin, northeast China many so-called communists and independence campaigners crowded in Jilin.

However, they were wasted their time away in factional strife instead of going among the people to rouse them to achieve the independence of the country.

Knowing this, they say, he made an impressive remark to this effect:

Now so-called campaigners are only going up and up, from the country to town, from town to Seoul and from Seoul again to the communist international...They think that going up is the only way to join in a group and get an approval.

Where could they end up after all said and done if they only continue to go up parting themselves far from the masses contrary to their avocation that they are making revolution for the proletarian masses? As for us, let us go down, down to the grassroots, among the workers and peasants.

With this viewpoint he found his way to the grassroots, among the masses of people to the end of his life.

Therefore, the "people-bound train" may be said to have started from Jilin, China in 1927.

He continued his journey to the people for the on-the- spot guidance with the lever of the train in his hand to found the army, Party and State and led the revolution and construction only to victory. His exploits will go down the generations to come.

Leader Kim Jong Il continued the Songun march with the lever handed down from the President firmly in his hand and died a martyr in the train.

Today leader Kim Jong Un took over the lever of the "people-bound train" and leads Korea.

The "people-bound train" he is on is now full steam ahead powered by his passion and love whistling the prosperity of Korea in its heyday.

The reputed "people-bound train" of Korea deserves to come on the top of the list of the Guinnes records in its speed and distance it covered. In view of its historical value it should be registered in the UNESCO's heritage list.

It is a locomotive breaking through barriers laid by the hostile forces and pulling through round all the curves as leader Kim Jong Un works and steers.

The name of the station the train stops is "people" and the final station is Kim Jong Un's land of promise, a socialist thriving nation where the Korean people enjoy all blessings.

I am going to justify my points that I mentioned above with the log book of the "people-bound train" relying on the Rodong Sinmun, a leading paper in Korea.

I would like to begin from the part June of 2013 of the log book.

From June to August

Leader Kim Jong Un stopped the "people-bound train" at the newly built Posong Mushroom Factory (said to be located in Tongrim County, North Phyongan Province) for a guidance on the spot

A first modern factory of the sort in Korea, it has all the production processes streamlined on a high level of industrialization, intensification and scientification.

That day he instructed the workers there that we had to breed a species productive and adapted to our weather and conditions, agaric mushroom in particular which grow below 20"C and yield over 100 tlha.

He went on to say that when he visited a KPA unit, he saw the soldiers took pork and mushroom dishes in their meal. We have to build many large-scale mushroom factories of this kind producing mushrooms in an industrial way everywhere so as to add to the diet of the soldiers and people, he said.

This news was reported on June 6, 2012.

Next day he attended the 4th Conference of the Korean Children's Union to congratulate the KCU delegates and have a photograph taken with them.

Next day on June 8 he went to the Pyongyang Basic Foodstuff Factory for the on-the-spot guidance. There he appreciated the factory highly that it was a factory automated, unmanned and domesticated on a high level, a rare palace of workers of the Workers' Party era and thickly armed with patriotism and a model others have to learn after.

They say this factory has the honour that President

Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II visited many times.

All the care he has taken to make the factory serve the people better can be found in the products exhibition hall of the factory.

He was shown to the products exhibition hall of the Pyongyang Basic Foodstuff Factory. On display there were bean paste, peppered bean paste, soy sauce, refined oil, refined salt, flavours packed in various colours and sizes.

Out of them he took a disposable peppered been paste to try its taste and was quite satisfied with it. He was like parents trying the taste of the usual soy sauce

Then he took a sample of powdered bean paste packets. Seeing there was no instructions he told to put it so that the users can know how to use it.

His noble qualities so meticulous as to taste the bean paste the people use and point even a trifle default in the foodstuff are a gift a genuine people's leader only can possess.

He stopped at the stand of soybean oil cans to take two oil cans and held them each in both hands. Then he said in full smile to the accompanying officials that how pleasant he would be when he would see our people go home with oil cans in both hands.

So great was his wish that his people have to live in affluence.

The crystallization of his noble wish is the "Kim Jong Un-style utopia"-a socialist thriving nation now in the making.

What are the next stations the "people-bound train" steered by him day and night without a moment's sleep or rest is scheduled to stop.

I cannot write down here all of his revolutionary activities but a part of them in my hand. No doubt, the dates are as in the Rodong Sinmun.

Those are the stations the "people-bound train" stopped in a month of June.

The energy of a man can be compared to" consumer goods". As much as consumed the stock is reduced and beyond the limit it collapses.

However, the enthusiastic love of leader Kim Jong Un is limitless.

His days are a series of eruption of his limitless enthusiasm and continuation of moments his noble and warm love of the people is manifested.

With this enthusiasm and love of the people he rouses the Korean people to the creation of the "Masikryong speed" and opens up in the van the path to the socialist thriving nation and socialist civilized nation.

He continued his journey for the on-the-spot guidance in July and August, the hottest season of the year.

As seen above he exerted himself inheriting the "arduous march in hottest season" of leader Kim Jong Il.

He would pass over the repeated earnest requests of the people and officials to have a rest with a smile.

Someday he said that he now acquired a habit of boarding and lodging in the train.

Only the Korean people can easily understand what he meant.

However, if you know what resolve he had when he come out to this journey, you would easily find the source of his devotion, noble passion and efforts for the love of people.

He would work day and night to succeed the cause of the Songun revolution as leader Kim Jong Il intended and always feel short of the time. Therefore, he said that he made a habit to work awake all night. He said as follows:

A revolutionary does not work with a physical strength, but with mental power. Although there is a limit in the physical strength, there is no limit in the ideological and mental power. I am going to devote all my ideological and mental power in the sacred work for succeeding and completing the cause of the Songun revolution of General Kim Jong Il....

How can this people-bound train run by him cease to advance a moment?

The train continued to run in September and October too when the fields are yellow with ripe crops and luxuriant with reddening maples.

The train stopped at the August 8 Fishing Station.

He had been there in May the same year.

After seeing round the station he had taken a measure to send four fishing boats. He also christened the ship as 'Tanphung' a symbol of autumn in the sense that they make a good haul in the seas as a good crop on the land.

And he had asked the director to write to him the good news of a big haul in case they haul 4000 t of fish saying that they make a heavy haul to send a great deal of fish to the army men and it is not an order of the supreme commander but a request.

Firmly determined they had exerted themselves to fulfill the task to catch 4000 t of fish for six months and written to him.

Receiving the letter leader Kim Jong Un sent a reply personally to the director and visited this station again in December.

Fully satisfied at the large haul after 30 years he went to the refrigerated storage. Seeing the fishes closely packed there he laughed a hearty laugh saying that it was like a magazine packed with cases of munitions.

Then he invited them to pose with him for a photograph for a keepsake.

He expressed satisfaction all along too pleased to have a great amount of fish for the soldiers.

He said: In the past the station could catch only 1000

t of fishes. So the haul amounting to 4000 t for six months is a great success. It is a rare haul achieved in a year full of events. It is a rare scene foretelling a great wonder.

Now in this station I have a smile in spite of myself. The words of a song that a boat whistles of full load at the port and the holds full of fishes hit my mind of their own accord.

Appreciating his words I remind of a story about President Kim II Sung who sang the 'Song of Sea' in his office room.

I heard it during my visit to Korea from an official of the Committee for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

In a winter day when the myongtae fishing was at the height in the East Sea, which Koreans like, President Kim II Sung was reported from an official of the fishery sector that myongtae was profuse in the sea he said to catch it as much as they can without worrying oil.

Then he called an official of the cabinet to give him appropriate instructions of the oil and transport of the fishes and request him to update him with the news on the catch of myongtae.

Myongtae belongs to a cod family hauled much in the East Sea of Korea, Okhotsk Sea, Bering Sea and the eastern Pacific coastal waters from Alaska peninsular to Californian peninsula and liked very much by the Koreans.

That day after hanging up the telephone he suddenly said to an official by his side.

"What were the words after 'though it sails unloaded'"?

"What?"

"You know the words in the 'Song of Sea', don't you?"

Then the official was aware of what he meant, then answered,

"The holds are full when returning..."

"Ah, that's it. The holds are full. .."

The President, as if unmindful of all cares and worries, sang quietly the folk song "Song of Sea."

Though it sails unloaded
The holds are full when return.

He is said he sang this song twice that day.

He was so pleased when he knew the people could have fishes satisfactorily that he sang the "Song of Sea" twice in his office room.

The image of leader Kim Jong Un who sings the words of a thrilling song with the pleasure of a big haul was as like as the image of President Kim Il Sung that day. I do not get excited easily, though, I feel nothing can be done about my excitement.

In Masikryong Ski Resort Too

His train continued to run from the "people" station to "soldier" station and vice versa

The last station the train stopped in 2013 was the Masikryong Ski Resort, Korea's well-known tourist resort

Rodong Sinmun dated December 31, 2013

Respected Marshal Kim Jong Un sees round the completed Masikryong Ski Resort

When he was to the construction site of the Masikryong Ski Resort the 4th time in early April he highly appreciated the soldier builders who were creating miraculous success in the construction and expressed a full satisfaction saying that the completion of the Masikryong Ski Resort designed and initiated by the Party is near at hand and it is perfectly the merits accomplished by the soldier builders and a proud result made by them.

He went on: The KPA performed a gigantic nature- remaking project. A new historical term "Masikryong speed" grew further reputed by the People's Army men. It is our pride that we have such an army. How many projects including the Munsu Water Park and Mirim Riding Club have they done for the good of the people this year. Now the completion of the Masikryong Ski Resort will add to the happiness of the people. When I think of the people and youth and students having a pleasant time in the skiing ground, I feel pride of making revolution.

He visited the skiing ground again at the end of December that year.

The Masikryong Ski Resort, a ski tourist service base, has a total 110,000 ms of ski tracks starting from the highest Taehwa Peak of the Masik mountains, a fountain dividing the central region of Korea to the east and the west, down to the foot along the eastern slope and various high-level amenities.

Conventionally it is said to take more than 10 years to build such a skiing ground.

However, the People's Army men completed a world-level skiing ground in less than one year with a new "Masikryong speed". It is really a wonder.

He visited again on the eve of the new year 2014 to look round the hotels and other service amenities and highly appreciated that all the service amenities were well I built so as to satisfy the aspiration, demand, sentiments and taste of the people and provide the visitors with all the conveniences to the maximum and further emphasize the features of the environment of Masik Pass. He said it is impeccable. Then he went up on a cable car to the top of the peak examining its safety and utility.

That day he acquainted himself with the performance of the snow padding car, snow cannon and other equipment, and saying that they would be tolerable in operating the skiing ground and the clients too be pleased as can be now, instructed that the service men of the skiing ground have to take good care of the facilities and buildings and well organize the service activities in order that the benefit of the Party could go more warmly to the people.

He said proudly: Masikryong Ski Resort fully meets the demand of the time on going in the forefront of the civilization and architecture so as to preserve the ecological environment in harmony with the high level facilities by applying thoroughly the WPK's Juche-oriented idea of architectural aesthetics. The People's Army has done a great job. We could complete the construction of the skiing ground this year as we announced to the people and the world. The credit goes to the soldiers who never failed to carry out the decision of the Party with the spirit of going through thick and thin. Now we can surely review this year as a heyday of construction.

Then he instructed that they try to make the completion ceremony earlier to let the people and youth enjoy the sports to their heart's content since the skiing ground had been completed on the level desired by the Party.

The completion ceremony took place at the outset of the year 2014 and soon the ski service and tourism began in full force from the beginning of the year.

The skiing ground has become not only a pride of Korea, a source of pleasure and happiness for the working people and youths of this country, but also an object of admiration for all the foreigners.

On January 15, 2014 embassy staffs, representatives of the missions of the international organizations and military attaches and their families, it is said, went to the skiing ground in the mountainous area to have a pleasant time.

The ski and sleigh tracks stretched down along the slopes from the high rugged Masik Pass, skate and ski rinks, great LED panels displaying the atmospheric pressure and weather, the cable cars going up and down in the air one after another, level elevators, snowmobiles running up and down, snow cannons, snow padding cars moving...the grandeur of all this sight beggars all description.

Chinese and Russian ambassadors in Korea and other foreigners appreciated the bird's eye view looking down the panoramic view of the many ski tracks, Masikryong Hotel and the rest of the fantastic region of the skiing ground going up and down on a cable car or snowmobiles running up and down to the apex of the Taehwa Peak as high as 1360 m above sea level.

Liu Hongcai, former Chinese ambassador in Korea, expressed his impression in the lounge on the Taehwa Peak to this effect: Those who were not up here are not worth saying that they have been to the Masikryong Ski Resort. Here on the top I keenly felt how hard the Masikryong wonder would have been to come by. This skiing ground is vast in size and gives people spiritual and cultural wealth. The Masikryong spirit will give an inspiration to the Korean people who rose up in their struggle for building a thriving nation and improving their living standard under the leadership of the Workers' Party of Korea led by respected Comrade First Secretary.

The guests had a good time that day going skiing and on snowmobiles together with the working people of this country.

Ismail Ahmad Muhammad Hassan, the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of the State of Palestine in Korea expressed gratitude to H.E respected Marshal Kim Jong Un on behalf of the diplomatic representatives and their families for granting them to have a pleasant time in such a beautiful place and went on to say: Respected Marshal Kim Jong Un led to build such an excellent Masikryong Ski Resort in a short span of time. All the pleasant things today will remain long in our memory. We wish the friendly Korean people progress and prosperity.

Hasan Resa Husseini, the doyen of the military attaché corps in Korea and military attaché of the embassy of the Islamic Republic of Iran in Korea said: It is more than the word excellent. A ski fan I am sure that everything in this ski resort is past the world level. The KPA men fulfilled a vast project of building the ski resort in no way inferior in a short span of time. As the same soldier I was struck with admiration. I believe the KPA will build more excellent structures under the distinguished leadership of H.E. Marshal Kim Jong Un.

Cheng Li, the army attaché of the embassy of the People's Republic of China in Korea said: I am very pleasant in the ski resort. The world-level Masikryong Ski Resort shows both Korea's cultural features and its world levels.

Respected Supreme Commander Kim Jong Un pays great concern for the cultured life of the Korean people. The Masikryong Ski Resort was built by the KPA in his initiative. The KPA has a strong fighting power. They put greatest efforts to execute the order of their supreme commander without any condition so that they completed the ski resort qualitatively.

Their joy was not only in the skiing ground, but also in the Masikryong hotel.

The wives of diplomatic staff, 10 representatives and military attaches in Korea could not contain themselves for joy. They said: The hotel is cozy and peculiar. We taste here all the dishes we have never tried at home. It is quite at home.

The bright-light view at night unfolded in a snow-covered valley of the resort gives full interest to the guests.

They passed the night without sleep indulging in sports, singing songs and dancing in the swimming pools, water park and amenities in the hotel.

Illiana Almaguer Rodrigues, wife of the Cuban ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary, told: The Masikryong Ski Resort has been built under the wise leadership of respected Comrade Kim Jong Un who devotes all to the people. We offer Korea our congratulations for the success in making another creation. We had a joyful day to our heart's content.

The Masikryong Ski Resort full of joy and vitality makes such a deep impression to the visitors.

A focus of attraction of world media, it is widely reported in many countries.

Reporting the photograph of leader Kim Jong Un guiding the Masikryong Ski Resort on the spot and the fact that the ski tracks and nearly 60 projects were completed on a world level under his leadership, the CCTV pointed out that President Kim Il Sung went to the working class of Kangson Steel Plant after the war to start the Chollima movement and leader Kim Jong Il named the speed of the construction created by the builders of the Huichon Hydropower Plant as a "Huichon speed" a new Chollima speed and emphasized that the "Masikryong speed" succeeds this historical tradition.

Chinese Hwankou Shibao and Shinhwa network too carried reports entitled "Korean speed experienced in Masik Pass"....

Today the Masikryong Ski Resort attracts the attention of the world media. So it has been and is now much reported.

4. Brilliant Results of love-the-people Politics

Changjon Street, Here Live the People

A Korean saying goes "A decade is enough to reshape the land".

Now this saying has become outdated.

In fact Koreans say that one year is enough for them to change the land.

The case in point is the heyday of construction happening in Korea.

Typical of it is the Changjon street newly built in Pyongyang city. (It is at the foot of the Mansu Hill where stand the statues of great President Kim Il Sung and His Excellency great Kim Jong Il.)

Koreans call it a street of deluxe houses.

People were amazed when they were told that the existing buildings were brought down and on the site a street of world-level buildings built in one year.

The hostile forces slandered them to do the impossible. I heard that a Western newsman had said that he would remain in Pyongyang to record it in pictures every day if Korea really builds it within one year, but disgraced himself unable to keep to his words and finally withdrew.

The evil-minded shouted for delight that the Koreans would put their pride in their pocket after they announced to build the Changjon Street lined with super high-rise buildings and modem service amenities, but witnessing the Koreans complete the assembly of 45-storied high-rise building within 80 days they had to shut their crooked mouth.

Amidst the miracles taking place every day people began to settle in the new flats in the Changjon Street in July2013.

At this point the evil-minded again chattered with their tongue in their cheek.

The ordinary former residents would be expelled and the designated occupy those 3-5-roomed deluxe flats.

On the contrary, all the former residents settled in the new deluxe flats.

As for the hosts of the flats as televiewed they were workers, low civil servants, teachers, researchers and doctors, etc. all nameless if in Western countries.

Therefore, a doctor from the northern Europe expressed admiration and envy: I belong to the well-to-do class in my country, but I could barely manage to have a house of my own at the age of 45, and very poor to compare with. But here in Korea commonplace workers, intellectuals and office workers are living in such luxurious houses built by the state free of charge without knowledge of taxes. This rare fact can be seen only in Korea. Paradise is not in Heaven but in Korea.

Head of the Agronornical Bureau, the Guinean Ministry of Agriculture, said after visiting the new flats in the Changjon Street:

Grand buildings for the ordinary people have been built everywhere and the fine new flats given to the people free of charge. The Korean people are striving to strengthen this thankful social system. All the conscientious people are greatly moved to see what is happening in Korea.

However, more admirable is the noble love of leader Kim Jong Unto ordinary working people and his plebeian love without a trifle reserve with the people and the happiness of the people in his embrace.

The scene showing his visits to the ordinary working people with packets of match as is the Koreans' custom to congratulate those moved to new flats and giving a toast to them has been deeply impressed in the mind of the viewers as an indelible image of a great man reputed widely.

A south Korean personage said: His was a fatherly image when he visits a common family in the new flat and sits with them knee to knee in a family way to ask their livelihood and drink a toast.

When the scenes were shown in the TV the world was stricken with admiration.

The educator family in which the host is a teacher in the Pyongyang University of Mechanical Engineering and all the rest are engaged in teaching, the family of Mun Kang Suk who became a labour heroine working in the Pyongyang Kim Jong Suk Textile Mill and received a new flat as soon as she got married, another family of Jang Sun Nyo whose couple is both workers ...These families had privileges honored to have leader Kim Jong Un in their houses because they were ordinary working people. These are the 'privileged' in Korea.

I was so eager to know about them that I asked the DPRK Committee for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries to send me the details of the visits.

A few days ago I received the accounts about them. Those were very impressive.

Now I would like to review here only one out of all the stories, the one of his visits to Jang Sun Nyo's family a mail carrier working in the Kyongsang branch of the Pyongyang Post Office.

Leader Kim Jong Un visited her family on September 4, 2012. Her couple was both workers.

That day her family was having a pleasant time in the evening talking about the affairs in the workplaces and school in a happy family atmosphere, when they heard an eye-opening notice that he would call on their family.

In that time he was said to have been all along on the way of inspecting the KPA units.

He called on those families moved to new flats leaving other urgent state affairs till later on, no sooner than he arrived at Pyongyang.

All the family made a bow. He said to them that he came to congratulate them for settling in the new flat and shook hands with them warmly.

Then he smiled a broad smile as he felt happy to see a workers' family live in this luxurious five-roomed flat equipped with all the durables, furnishings and kitchen utensils, when he took the hand of their second son and asked what his name was, how old and what school he went before he entered the room with the child.

He sat on the floor of the room in a family way and asked them where they lived before and said with a hearty laugh: It is as like as you stroke a bonanza when compared with the one-roomed flat in the Taedongmun-dong. They said thankful for giving them such an excellent flat. It is understandable they would feel different from others.

He seated his second son on his lap.

He stroked his head affectionately and asked the couple that he was the only son. They answered that they had another son 13 years old. Then he seemed something wanting and said that he would have been very glad if he had been there with him.

That day he said the couple that as the custom goes he brought packets of match and handed them to the host. Besides, he left a colour TV set, a set of dishes and children's books as presents to them and personally poured wine in a cup for a toast to congratulate them for the settlement in a new flat.

Seeing them receiving the toast in tears with great affection, he asked to the son to show him his bed room.

In his room he opened his drawing book and turning over the leaves he advised the boy: Here you have to draw a flower garden and in the garden there must be red and yellow flowers too, and you have to complete the leg of a schoolboy and add to it his sister too. You have to complete the drawing today.

At the moment the eldest son came in in a training suit soaked in sweat saluting him lively "Respected Marshal Kim Jong Un, how do you do?"

The couple was extremely happy to see much waited son. He asked him stroking his cheeks with his hand on the boy's shoulder.

"Which school do you go?"

"I study in the third grade in the Pyongyang Ryongwang Middle School.

"Where have you been?"

"I have been to the football group."

"Are you fond of football?"

"Yes I am."

"Are you a good player? Will you have a try with me?"

He grinned without a reply and he asked again.

"Will you be a football player?"

"Certainly."

Then he was quite satisfied with his answer.

He came back to the bedroom with the children and seated himself on the edge of the bed. He seated the two sons on both of his side and said they are admirable.

Then he went to the kitchen to size up the height of the cupboard.

He again seated himself on the floor of the room with other folks of the family without reserve and took the book "Honeybee Maya" out of his souvenir collections of world known fairy tales. He gave it to the second son and told to read out.

Showing deference the child did not read it off smoothly.

He heard it to the end and then taking a picture book for developing intellectual faculties, asked to his mother whether she had some best-seller books of that sort she bought in the bookshop.

She answered no.

Then he said: Parents should encourage their children read many books. The books this kind is good to improve their intellectual faculty. Then he said to the child to read a book every day and write down the impression on a notebook.

Before long he stood up and asked again to the couple whether they have anything inconvenient in the new flat. Then he said: I am glad to hear that they have nothing inconvenient in the new flat. He had a photograph taken with the family. Before leaving he blessed them: I wish your family a happy future.

Then he encouraged the eldest son to study and train hard to be a good football player and told the second son to add the brother and sister to the drawing as he told to complete ittoday.

Itis quite an emotional story hard to believe in.

I do not find a case in the world that a leader of a state saw to build such a five-roomed flat for a common family of four and went to congratulate them moving in the newflat.

Jang Sun Nyo, a mail carrier, wrote in her memoires "Our Home of Love".

"As soon as the news of his visit was made known many called on us, close relatives, friends of the same work place, former neighbors and even strangers from far-off provinces, to share pleasure with the happy event of a worker family as their own and congratulate us.

"Many foreigners and correspondents too came to visit us. They repeated to ask us we are really workers because it is unimaginable in their country that a common worker family receive free of charge a deluxe flat in an excellent place where the statues of great President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II and the Mansudae Assembly Hall, a venue for a discussion of important state affairs, are in a hailing distance.

"I would tell them proudly that we are literally ordinary workers. This wonder can only happen in the embrace of respected Marshal Kim Jong Un who loves the people most dearly and is always concerned for giving them all the happiness and our socialist system best in the world."

Very touching story it is. In Korea the state provides housing to every worker free of charge.

And in Korea there are in every nook and comer many families which had the honour of having great generalissimos Kim II Sung and Kim Jong II.

Besides, the peasants too have their houses built by the State free of charge and many of them had the same honour.

Not only them but also scientists, technicians, educators, sportsmen, artistes and all the families of Korea have the same benefits, the houses of the Unha Scientists Street, the educators' dwelling house of the Kim II Sung University, sportsmen's apartment house, artistes apartment house...etc.

These are all deluxe dwelling houses.

Many other dwelling houses have been built for the common people under the sincere benevolence of leader Kim Jong Un, the "Wisong Scientists' Street" "Yonphung Scientists Rest Home, educators' dwelling houses of Kim Chaek University of Technology, Workers' Hostel of the Pyongyang Kim Jong Suk Textile Mill....

I believe that these facts prove that leader Kim Jong Un enforces love-the-people politics.

The internet home page of the Communist Workers Party of Russia under the CPSU reports about this as follows: After visiting the Changjon Street foreigners are all amazed because most of the residents are common people and moreover they do not know the prices of the apartment. Rather they ask the foreigners how much it is in the Western countries. In the West it is inconceivable for a common worker to buy a flat.

Korea has long introduced the district medical care system. A doctor is wholly responsible for the health of the residents in charge. This is beyond understanding to those accustomed to the capitalist society where all is dependent on money.

The 6th Session of the 12th Supreme People's Assembly of the DPRK in 2012 adopted to enforce a universal12-year compulsory education. The point here is the fact that all this is free of charge.

There is no unemployed in Korea. There is no sign of a labour agency or a "help or wanted" column in the internet or newspaper. It is because the government assigns the graduates of the tertiary or secondary schools in the right places.

Besides, it is self-evident that there is no one who fails to get work because non-selfish moral choice is the trend of the social life.

The state provides the masses of the people with all the social conditions for them to enjoy an independent and creative life to their heart's content.... No malediction and complaint on the social system are heard in Korea. It is because there are no factor of casting a dark shadow over the people and only sun like popular policies are exercised in Korea.

Since the slogan "Everything for the people! All depending on the masses of people!" is materialized in all the activities of the society Korea is different root and branch from the mammonist capitalist society under the jungle law.

The above refers to the solution of the people's housing problem for the leader Kim Jong Un's benevolence to the people

Then what is the source of this great love for the

A Korean saying goes from old: Essential in human life are clothes, food and housing.

Great President Kim Il Sung directed priority to the solution of clothes, food and housing problem saying that the Korean people longed from old to live on rice, in silk clothes and a tile-roofed house. That was their ideal.

Leader Kim Jong Il too had always been putting priority to it and devoted himself to the solution of this problem.

The Chollima, Ragwon, Changkwang, Mansudae streets built earlier are lined with dwelling houses for the people. The rural villages across the country are also beautiful with cultural dwelling houses built by the state. This is the proof that the great leaders directed great concern for the housing of the people.

Leader Kim Jong Un too is most interested in the improvement of the people's livelihood, in particular the solution of their housing problem.

His exceptional concern for the solution of their housing problem proceeds from not only his consideration to one of the important aspects in the improvement of the people's livelihood, but also his high humanity.

Korea in the Kim Jong Un days is a country where happy laughter are heard from the houses newly built in all places under the noble humanity of peerless great men, and rejoiced over it, the leader visits the new dwelling house of the workers to share the pleasure with them.

All of Them Belong to People

Many world-level fun fairs and cultural and welfare facilities have recently been built in the DPRK

They include Rungra People's Pleasure Park, Munsu Water Park, Mirim Riding Club and Masikryong Ski Resort.

Foreigners admire to see such wonderful facilities in Korea.

Question is who created such fantastic buildings and who would enjoy the genuine civilization and marvelous cultural entertainment.

The answer is they are all for people.

There is no privileged class in the DPRK and officials are servants for the people.

Privilege, preferential treatment, use of power and bureaucracy are what leader Kim Jong Un detests most and does not allow the slightest of them.

A good example can be found in what happened during the construction of Rungra People's Pleasure Park.

On April 30, 2012, when the construction of the park was nearing completion he visited the construction site.

Upon his arrival he made his way to the Dolphinarium first. Its architecture is peculiar as it houses also rooms for dissemination of science and common knowledge about sea fish, to say nothing of those for showing dolphins.

It is said that foreigners who had once been there have felt there are few such a gorgeous indoor dolphin show facilities in the world.

I heard there is a big dolphin show facility in Hong Kong, China and that is an open-air one.

Other countries operate dolphin show facilities, but their priority is of course put to profitability. However, the DPRK put importance to the people's full enjoyment of cultural and emotional life and accordingly built it so impeccably. With the addition of the Dolphinarium to the Pleasure Park as well as a modem water park the Rungra Islet turned into a people's entertainment place of the highest order in the DPRK.

One of great concerns of leader Kim Jong Un was the traffic since the Pleasure Resort would be constructed on Rungra Islet situated in the middle of the River Taedong.

Exchanging views with officials, he put forward an innovative solution, saying that a passenger boat and tourist cableway connecting Moran Hill and Munsu Area would greatly help to solve the traffic issue.

Learning that they created an entrance hall and lounge exclusively for officials, he, scolding officials, said that he would never allow such a thing in the future.

Moving to the second district of the amusement park he noticed that the distance from the first to the second district was rather long and meticulous enough to make sure to install either a tourist car or train for the convenience of the people.

After finishing his tour of the construction site of the pleasure park, he said that lighting of Chongryu and Rungra Bridges would present marvelous scenery in the Rungra area.

An official requested for his autographs for the signboard of buildings in the pleasure park.

Saying that it is important to have letters "people" included in the signboard of the pleasure park he suggested calling it "Rungra People's Pleasure Park" since President Kim II Sung had instructed to turn the Rungra Islet into people's pleasure ground when he was to the Islet in August 1958. He added that the name "Rungra People's Pleasure Park" is good in the light of the noble intention of the Great Leaders Kim II Sung and Kim Jong II who devoted their all to the people all their lives.

They had made sure that the word "people" was included in the names of the big and wonderful architectures in Pyongyang such as Grand People's Study House and People's Palace of Culture.

The names alone are a clear indication that those Buildings are for the p e ople.

They also reflect their noble view on the people.

Upholding the view of the preceding leaders, Marshal Kim Jong Un named the entertainment resort as the People's Pleasure Park to make all the pleasure ground, dolphin show facility and water park geared to the benefit of the people.

Now Rungra Dolphinarium is said to be packed to overflowing every day with the workers, fanners, students and children in Pyongyang and from provinces and foreigners.

After visiting the Dolphinarium, Javed Ahmed Ansari, secretary general of Pakistan Association for Self - Reliance Studies, said that lots of people visit the facility, adding that the Korean people are the happiest people in the wor1d as they lead a happy life under the care of the state.

The Nigerian Committee for the Study of the Juche idea in an article "Kim Jong Un, politician loving people" dealt with the reality in the DPRK where everything serves the people. It added that H.E. Kim Jong Un's policy of respecting and loving the people draws the interests of the international community. The supreme leader's field guidance is always considerate of the people's life. From what he emphasizes during the guidance, one can keenly feel his concern for the people's living. All his traits are admirable and what is the more attractive among them is his noble personality and virtue. Thanks to his love for the people, miraculous achievements are being created one after another in the DPRK. Everything for the people-All the thinking and activities of H. E. Kim Jong Un is directed toward it.

Anyone who has had a chance of visiting the DPRK says with admiration. But the West, by taking advantage of its upper hand in the possession of the wireless space, resorts to the obstructive moves to prevent these just voices from being heard by the world. They also work out every possible plot to tarnish the image of the DPRK through false propaganda.

As a result, many people in the world have a distorted understanding of the DPRK and take prejudiced approach toward it.

This is something really deplorable.

In Korea everything serves the people.

By only this it can be extolled enough for Korea as people's utopia and paradise on earth. The same can be said of Mirim Riding Club and Masikryong Ski Resort.

Riding horses has become popular in Korea now.

People have had long relations with horses and riding has become one of sports events loved by the people. However, these days it is becoming a quality exercise for a handful of privileged class only. Riding horses is also a means for making money. But in Korea a modern riding course has been built for the people to enjoy.

As its name implies, Mirim Riding Club is a popular riding service facility.

In the world there are many other better riding courses than the one in the DPRK.

According to data available, US$ 3 billion was invested in three years for the successful2011 World Cup Dubai Riding Championships. This speaks for its volume of luxury.

Let's have a look at another aspect.

Race horse under US$800 000 in price could not take part in the championships and riders had to have at least two horses at the cost of approximately two million US$. Moreover, at least US$100 000 of transport fee has to be added to each horse.

The owners of these expensive horses are members of Royal palaces, emirs and the nobility.

There were eight event games at the Championships and prize amounted to about US$ 26 million.

The purpose of championship is to advertise Dubai. It is neither the championship nor the ridding course for the people.

The site of the Mirim Riding Club was previously a ride drilling ground of the Korean People's Army.

Then, what sort of club is the Mirim Riding Club of the DPRK?

Visiting the area, leader Kim Jong Un initiated turning it to the one for the people including the youth and saw to it that all facilities were provided at the highest level on the principle of putting the priority to the conveniences of the people and regarding them as absolute.

He came to the site several times and provided energetic guidance so that the Riding club could be built as a perfect ride service center.

After its completion he inspected the facility and said that he is so pleased at the thought of people enjoying a ride there.

I think the construction of such wonderful service facilities including the pleasure park and the riding club are a fruition of Kim Jong Un's policy of loving the people.

What is important here is that those who fully enjoy socialist civilization are ordinary people and their children.

Huan Qiu Shibao, in an article wrote that horse-riding is a traditional sports event that has become popular in the cultural and leisure-time activities of the Korean people. Supreme leader Kim Jong Un energetically led the construction of the Riding Club to be a perfect facility. The Mirim Riding Club that has been built in a peculiar way at the highest level has become one of people's pleasure parks where people's happy laughter is heard every day.

The same holds true for the Masikryong Ski Resort.

There are many world-famous ski resorts in the world.

Among them are Wisler Ski Resort in Canada extending more than 3,200 hectares of snow field and Morizusky ski resort on the top of the Aips in Switzerland, which was arranged with 218 skiing pistes and 56 lifting equipment and hosted twice winter Olympics.

A ski resort in Verbi, Switzerland, is also among vibrant ski resorts in the world.

There are also many other worlds' famous ski resorts.

However wonderful they are, they are out of match to the Masikryong Ski Resort in the DPRK. The reason is that all of them are like a rice cake in the picture for the ordinary people.

Rice cake is a traditional dish of Korean which is made of rice. Things which one cannot attain are likened to painted cake.

Masikryong Ski Resort is not a painted cake but a reality and it is for the people.

Referring to this, an internet website of France-Korea Friendship Association said:

"Masikryong Ski resort has been completed in a short span of time in the DPRK. Leader Kim Jong Unvisited the construction site several times to build it at an early date. The reason that it arouses great admiration among the people is because it is a wonderful sports facility for the people."

A French writer who visited the DPRK on the occasion of the Day of Shining Star in February 2014 wrote in a letter to leader Kim Jong Un as follows:

"As a French citizen visiting the DPRK twice I would like to tell you how much I was struck with admiration to see Masikryong Ski Resort.

First I was moved by the love for the people with which you provided such a wonderful gift to the people.

The conditions were grim during the period of construction but the army men and people of the DPRK overcame all those difficulties with great willpower. Willpower gives birth to miracle. I also admire the technical aspect of the resort that matches other world-level ski resorts.

There are pistes for every grade, and field employees including coaches, equipment caretakers, ski lending assistants are all qualified, meticulous and kind. I learned that you paid deep attention to the safety of the people against any accidents and emergencies. Those details helped me have a genuine profile of the great leader who is so considerate about the welfare of his people.

The luxury and beauty of Masikryong Hotel situated in a wonderful atmosphere at the foot of the pistes deserve the world admiration. I have been to several ski resorts in France but the one in Masik is the most advanced. Hard- working employees, quality dishes and kind assistants made me keenly feel at home. Rooms are spacious and well-furnished, giving the feelings of sleeping in forests. They are very cozy.

As a visitor to your country, I deem it pride and honor to be one of first skiers in the newly built ski resort.

I deem it my utmost privilege to present this letter to you and to have skied in Masikryong Ski Resort.

I am a friend of the DPRK. It is because the Koreans are the symbol of those with bravery and willpower and so intelligent to feel grateful for the benevolence of their leader.

Such monuments as Masikryong Ski Resort and care for his own people are an inheritance of the great tradition of loving the people started by President Kim Il Sung and continued by leader Kim Jong Il.

Back to France, I will tell people advanced technology and industry of your country and noble mental world of your people just as they are."

There are many other examples.

Chinese People's Daily wrote as follows introducing Munsu Water Park:

In recent years Pyongyang has witnessed the construction of new architecture and facilities one after another. In the water park there are all kinds of water slides and tubs as well as outdoor and indoor wading pools. Inside indoor gym there are full sets of exercise facilities. The water park is full of happy people.

Introducing Ryugyong Health Complex, Chinese Huan Qiu Shibao, said:

Ryugyong Health Complex is popular among people. People's Outdoor Ice Rink next to it is also a resort for the people. In the backside of the ice rink there is in-line roller skating ground.

To have Ryugyong Health Complex, People's Outdoor Ice Rink, Roller Skating Ground and other cultural and welfare facilities and sports centers and get them up and running proves that the Korean people made a great achievement in improving their living....

All said above are an objective recognition of the world on the policy of loving the people now in force in the DPRK.

Future of Korea Bright

Leader KimJong Un loves children.

Wherever he goes, he pats and caresses children and have photos taken with them in his arms. Such images are aired all over the world to win admiration.

Love for children cannot be made up.

He easily gets along well with children just as their parents would do.

Such a close kinship is attributable to his sincerity.

It is said that seeing him having photos taken with children at Kyongsang Kindergarten, not only their parents but all other Koreans felt tears in admiration.

He promised them to come back again and on July 14, 2012 he visited the kindergarten back, being considerate of the yearnings of children and kindergarteners.

The kindergarten situated in Kyongsang-dong, Central District, Pyongyang opened on April 1, 1954. Its site was personally chosen by President Kim Il Sung.

At first it was an ordinary kindergarten for bringing up children in the region. At the initiative of Leader Kim Jong Il on establishing a pre-school early music education system, it was made the first early musical educational base of the country from May 11, 1979. Since then it has produced a numberless talents in the fields of music and arts.

The kindergarten has been remodeled like a palace on the occasion of the 100"' birth anniversary of President Kim Il Sung in 2012 thanks to the love for the future generations of leader Kim Jong Un.

Visiting the kindergarten again he was all along humble and modest with full smile while going round all places from playing ground to education rooms and bestowed on them all measures of fatherly love.

I am going to write just a few examples here.

He was shown to the combined playing ground.

In a mock hospital playing room, he saw a little young "doctor" in white overall with a stethoscope around her neck was making an examination of a child "patient" with another child in nurse's clothes.

He said that the playing room looks like a real hospital, adding that children look nice when they mimic doing examination and giving treatment. Approaching one of little doctors, he asked her to check his blood pressure.

Not understanding what he asks for, the child looked up to him questioningly.

He also, puzzled, looked at the principal, saying "what shall I do?"

The principal said "you should ask her for check-up because she does not know what blood pressure means".

He told the small girl "Please do medical check-up for me"

Only then the girl put the stethoscope on his arm and with her head a little to the side asked "What ails you?"

Turning to officials, he said that the girl is asking me back what ails me, adding that children are wistful and they feel awkward when adults intervened even though they were having a fun when they were playing themselves.

He was also pleased to see plots of peppers, eggplants, cucumber and strawberries and even a small orchard, to say nothing of potatoes and sweet potatoes and chicken coop and farm instruments that were arranged just as in the farm to show them to the city children.

Then he watched children drawing pictures with crayons and said a decoration board suits well to the mind of children. Watching footsteps engraved on both sides of stairs, he praised the kindergarteners for their doing education on traffic rules in a natural way.

He lavished his praises on the kindergarten, saying that everything suits the mind of children, adding that he feels like he has come to another world.

At an exercise room on the fourth floor, he joined children playing with a basketball and had a photo taken with them.

What a beautiful future the Korean children have as they grow with nothing to envy in the world under the embrace of kind-hearted father.

Now underway in Korea is preparations for creating education environment similar to the Kyongsang Kindergarten in all kindergartens across the country.

How prosperous future Korea will have as it would be propped up by children growing up happy in those kindergartens in the warm care of fatherly leader.

Story of his loving care for the future generations is also associated with the Pyongyang Children's Department Store.

The Department Store is located in the best place where one can have a full view not only of the statues of President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II standing high on Mansu Hill, but also the Moran Hill.

He made sure that the department store was built in such a wonderful site and itwas remodeled. This is a clear reminder of the noble view of President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II to the future generations by which they put forward children as the king of the country and took warm care of them all their lives.

At the end of May, 2012 he visited Pyongyang Children's Department Store.

That day he gave important instructions to all the questions arising in the remodeling and management ranging from the supply of goods and their quality to making settings to suit to the children's feelings.

It was his intention to build it into a department store in the true sense of the word not as a place for publicity or show orfor a feast to the eye, but a place where children can buy even rare goods which other stores do not have.

Going round several places of the store he gave instructions regarding the provision of toys, calling for building playing ground on each floor to follow the world trend.

After a month, he visited the store again. That day he kept smiling pleased to be able to provide further conveniences to the people and children visiting the store saying at the playing grounds that those were arranged like one in a fairy world.

The unbreakable principle of work of leader Kim Jong Un was to put priority to the convenience of the people.

He loves children of ordinary people more than others.

A good example is the national meeting of children union organizations for celebrating the 66'h anniversary of the Korean Children's Union in June 2012 which was held in an unprecedented large scale and in which children of ordinary workers, peasants, soldiers and intellectuals were represented.

This meeting was represented by 20 000 delegates selected from every school across the country and more than 70 percent of them were strangers to Pyongyang.

Leader Kim Jong Un personally attended the meeting and gave congratulatory speech "Bright Future to New Generations of Kim Il Sung's and Kim Jong Il's Korea".

Seated by his side were not officials but children of Mangyongdae Revolutionary School out of whom a boy was the son of an ordinary military officer who sacrificed himself on combat duty four years ago and a girl was the daughter of an ordinary worker also.

After a congratulatory performance, he met representatives of Children's Union and among them there was the daughter of a worker of heat treatment shop of Kim Chaek Iron and Steel Complex situated in the northern tip of Korea.

He asked each child what they want to become and was happy to hear their answers.

That night there was a display of manifold firework which was organized by his urgent instructions to please children.

He also had a photo taken with all of them, being thoughtful of their ardent wish.

The event for celebrating the 66'" anniversary of the Korean Children Union greatly excited all the army and people of the country and aroused admiration of the world.

The world progressives do not spare their admiration for leader Kim Jong Un's loving care for the future generations.

The following is just part of world repercussion.

The Chairwoman of the Central Committee of the Lao Women's Union said: Korea spares nothing for children, future of the nation. Under the warm care of Marshal Kim Jong Un children are stoutly growing up, bringing their talents into full bloom. In the image of children, we see the tomorrow of Korea. Korea has rosy future as it is led by leader Kim Jong Un who is bringing into full bloom the behests of President Kim IlSung and leader KimJong Il.

The Brazilian Committee for Solidarity with the DPRK posted on its website a following article titled "Leader Caring after Rising Generation":

One of high-profile figures in the international community at present is supreme leader of the DPRK Kim Jong Un. His talking with people in an active and composed stand warms people's hearts and attracts them. The one that moves people most is his warm loving care for the future generations.

It was known long that love of children is most devotional, active, pure and beautiful that can neither be made up nor forced.

On New Year's Day last year leader Kim Jong Un visited Mangyongdae Revolutionary School and patted children pleased to tear on their cheeks and showed loving care for them. So impressive and attractive is his image attending the event of children for marking 66"' anniversary of the Korean Children's Union and talking with them without reserve. When visiting Jangjae islet, a solitary islet in the West Sea of Korea, he held a six- months old baby close in his arms and had a photo taken.

He also visited a flat of a workers' family who had just moved to a new apartment building in Changjon Street and taught their boy attending an elementary school how to draw pictures.

The tradition of loving care for the children shown by President Kim IL Sung and leader Kim Jong II is being carried forward by leader Kim Jong Un. The international community is confident of the bright future of Korea in his image.

The Korean people will always enjoy victory and glory as they advance toward bright future under the guidance of leader Kim Jong Un.

A French media person said that one should look at children if one wants to know about the future of the country. It is because children are the symbol of the future of that country. Today the most valued are children and the bestthings are given to them in the DPRK. We can not find the happiest children in the world except in Korea. Korea is a people's country and paradise for children. Researcher of Institute for Future of south Korea said that it is north Korea where everything valuable serves children who are treated like king of the country. "We have nothing to envy in the world". This has become a symbol of happiness and pleasure as it is said by all there. One can not spare admiration at the wonderland. And no wonder children in the land shout "They envy nothing in the world". North Korea is a cradle and garden of happiness for children.

"There Are No Orphans in Korea"

There might be a certain number of orphans in every country. But I am sure that there is no one in Korea. It is because the country takes full responsibility for the upbringing of children in the country.

That's why orphans in Korea grow up happily singing the song "We envy nothing in the world".

It was January 24, 2012, the traditional lunar New Year's day. The Korean people were still wrapped in sorrow over a great loss to the nation after the death of leader Kim Jong Il.

That day leader Kim Jong Un visited Mangyongdae Revolutionary School.

He had many other places to visit but he visited the school first, saying that he would spend the day together with children on behalf of their parents as it is the first holiday after losing General Kim Jong Il.

He went to children standing to have a photo taken. Wiping tears of a young child and feeling his cold hands, he told a school official to let them wear gloves.

He soothed children, wiping their tears away and saying that faces with tears would not make a good picture.

Some of children even did not know how their parents looked like.

So children running close to the embrace of Marshal Kim Jong Un were just like children running toward their father.

After photo session, leader Kim Jong Un gave detailed instructions to spruce up the school well.

Visiting the gym of the school, he learned about several shortcomings and took a measure for building new gym.

When he went to a dining hall, children were having their dinner.

He tasted soy sauce and asked children what kind of food they liked most. He also told officials to provide birthday spreads to children on their birthdays.

On January 1, 2012 leader Kim Jong Un had given field guidance to the Seoul Ryu Kyong Su Guards 1OSth Tank Division of the Korean People's Army, demonstrating his will to invariably carry forward the Songun revolutionary cause of leader Kim Jong Il.

It can be said that this visit had been an inspection to an elite force while the visit to the revolutionary school was a review of future guards divisions and corps which would parade past him in the future.

It is thanks to this loving care that the Korean revolution is given a steady continuity.

Peculiar to his lofty view of future is that he becomes real father of all orphaned children across the country.

Nowadays many children are cast away out of doors in the world and many orphans roam about the streets, forsaken by society.

But in the DPRK orphans are growing up happily under the care of the state.

In the DPRK the upbringing of orphans is guaranteed by the law on upbringing of children provided by President Kim Il Sung and leader Kim Jong Il and baby homes and orphanages are operated throughout the country. It is a clear manifestation of the advantages of Korean-sty1e socialism.

His field guidance to Pyongyang Baby Homes and Orphanages proves his lofty view of future.

Leader Kim Jong Un visited baby homes and orphanages early in February 2014. Holding children in his arms, who came calling him father, he patted them on their cheeks long and asked them how old they were and if they were all well.

And he looked around several places of the orphanage, learning in detail about the conditions of upbringing, education and living.

Then he visited baby home. At a baby room, he asked nurses how old they were and watched children playing in the playing ground and talked with them.

With triplets on his laps, he recalled President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II who would be pleased at the news of birth of triplets saying that it is a sign of prosperity of the country, and in the cook room expressed his satisfaction at the food made to suit to their growth and nutrition as the orphanage does.

Promising to send fish so that children would be fed 300 grams of fish every day from this year, he said that children are king of the country.

He also said that the dried persimmon good for health should be provided as well as meat and fish and he would give an order to the Korean People's Army units stationed in the persimmon-rich places to produce a great deal to supply children with them.

There has never been a precedent in the world for a supreme commander to give such an order for children.

This can be seen only in the DPRK where military-first policy is pursued for the people and future generations.

That day he said that orphans long for close feelings. We have to bring them up to be bright and upright. We have to make sure that they grow up to be dependable pillars of the country free from sorrow. We have to make their song "We envy nothing in the world" reverberate far and wide the country.

He also told that it is the firm determination of the WPK to spruce all baby homes and orphanages across the country on the level of the Revolutionary Schools for revolutionary bereaved children.

It reflects his intention to bring up all orphans in the country to be just like of revolutionary bereaved children.

His teachings precisely meant his practice.

That day he promised that he would build new modern baby homes and orphanages on the picturesque bank of the River Taedong, which would be equipped with the best facilities for upbringing, development of intelligence and physical exercise on a high level.

He also gave important instructions concerning the issues including the building of new baby homes and orphanages in every province and municipality abreast of the times, preparing the officials, nurses and kindergarteners to be real parents, good educators, and professional revolutionaries for children.

Late in February 20141eader Kim Jong Unvisited the construction site of January 8 Fishing Station of the Korean People's Army.

It is said that the fishing station is under construction at the order given by leader Kim Jong Un to build a fishing station for supplying fish to baby homes, orphanages, elementary and secondary schools and the old people's home.

Saying that his purpose of visiting there is to discuss the possibility for providing fish to the baby homes, orphanages and the old people's homes through the country and it is firm will of our Party to make orphans grow free from parentless sorrow to be successors and pillars of the revolution, he counted personally on his notepad how much fish should be supplied to feed a child with 300 g offish every day,

He issued on the spot an order of the Supreme Commander on organizing a fishing station in the Korean People's Army for supplying fish to baby homes, orphanages, elementary and secondary schools and homes for the elderly across the country the year round.

Taking necessary measures for the building of the new station on a highest level, he instructed to finish the project by the Sun's Day so as to begin the supply of fish from the autumn.

At the end of February, about 40 days later, he again visited the construction site of the fishing station.

Learning about the progress of the construction, he praised their efforts and said: At the sight of the construction a magnificent modern fishing station looms up in my mind and shoals of fish seems waiting for us. What a worthwhile work we are doing.

That day he took a measure for soldier builders to build the fishing station as an edifice of the era of the Workers' Party of Korea to be impeccable even in the distant future. He also gave instructions to recruit a captain and fishermen and getting them ready to set to work following the completion of the fishing station.

How can they be called orphans living in the land overflowing with the loving care and benevolence.

Korea can be called the cradle of happiness and paradise of the people on earth under the policy of loving the people.

5. Legend-like stories brought into bloom by the love-the-people policy

At the looks of blessed gold medalists

Leader Kim Jong Un's affection and solicitude for sportsmen are the manifestation of his noble love for the people and a constituent of policy of love for the people.

In recent years the fervor of physical culture is growing higher as never before and Korea rises high as a spots power.

It is attributable to the wise leadership and noble affection of leader Kim Jong Un who has set the building of a sports power one of an important target for building a prosperous and civilized socialist country and kindled a nationwide fervor of sports, bestowing favors on sportsmen.

Sports culture plays an important role in the development of a state.

In particular, international sports events are not only the site of a showdown of technique, tactics, physical ability and spiritual strength, but also an important occasion for demonstrating the honor of the motherland and the stamina of the nation.

The Korean sportsmen surprise the world with unprecedented results in international competitions in recant years.

In the 30., Olympic Games held in 2012 Korean sports men and women including An Gum Ae, Kim Un Guk, Om Yun Chol and Rim Jong Sim won gold medals in succession to glorify their motherland in Judo and weightlifting events making another stir in England where the Korean footballers created 46 years ago a great sensation unprecedented in the annals of the World Cup.

A US internet newspaper said as follows;

The real winner is Korea in this Olympics. The fairest way of comparing the number of gold medals by countries is to count the ratio of number of medals to that of players of each country who took part in the Olympics. After all, Korea is number one. To compare it by population, Korea will lead the world.

At the end of October, 2012 at the Kim Il Sung stadium packed to overflowing there took place the men's football final of sports organizations of the 12th People's Athletic Meet.

When the game was at the height leader Kim Jong Un took the platform. The ardour of players and cheerers rose higher.

At the break he met the Olympic gold medalists in the back seat. He saw them quite a while with satisfactory and dependable eyes and said with pride and affection that in peace time only sportsmen fly the flag of the Republic in other countries and accordingly they are genuine patriots and heroes, those who win in the international tournaments to fly the flag of the Republic.

He went on; our players standing on the dais of honour in the international games would be wrapped in a solemn feeling looking at the national flag being hoisted with the national anthem resounding in other countries. I myself could not hold back tears when I see our flag being hoisted one after another in the 30" Olympiad in the middle of a capitalist country.

That day he met woman judoist An Gum Ae and asked her how old she was and if she got married.

She answered she was 32 years old and still single and had made up her mind to get married after she took a gold medal.

Then he asked her again if she had a spouse. She answered no. He went on to say: She devoted herself only to training paying no regard to her own private matters. All the sports men and women have to be so determined as she was.

He had a picture taken with them and their coaches and wished them further good successes in the sports events.

He stressed sports persons should glorify the honor of the country and repay the expectation of the people with a real result in international games.

The game resumed to end up 2 to 1.

The winners, coaches and players, had the honor to meet leader Kim Jong Un at the platform. But the losers stood crying on the floor of the stadium.

Nobody kept attention to them. But he fathomed their heart and told the officials to call them to the platform. The losers came running towards him, when spectators shouted with pleasure and admiration.

He shook hands with them one by one, telling them not cry and they played well, too and encouraged them to win next time. They may well redouble their efforts since they are led by such a great man.

The Korean sports men and women added luster to their motherland with gold medals in many international games such as the 30"' Olympics in 2012, the year which coincides with the 100" birth anniversary of President Kim Il Sung, the 7" world woman boxing Championships and soon.

According to data during 2012-July 2014 they collected over 230 gold, silver and bronze medals in international sports events of football, marathon, table tennis, weight lifting, wrestling, boxing and short-course speed skating and many of them held world championships.

In particular, they took 2.7 times more gold medals as against the same period of last year as of July, 2013 and took nearly 110 medals including over 60 gold medals in 10events.

Marathoner Kim Gum Ok took the first place at the 14"' Asian Marathon Championship, gymnast Ri Se Gwang well-known to the world with Ri Se Gwang Action won gold medal, table tennis players Kim Hyok Bong and Kim Jong took the first place at mixed doubles in world table tennis Championships, national women soccer selection composed with newcomers won gold medals at East Asian Women Soccer Cup 2013 and Taekwon-Do team took the first place at the 18th Taekwon-Do Championships by winning 4 cups, 21 gold medals, 4 silver medals, 3 bronze medals glorifying the honor of motherland of Taekwon-Do.

All these convince us that the Korean people will achieve their goal of building sports power at any cost.

Whenever the sports men and women take the first place in international games leader Kim Jong Un would highly evaluate them and give them all kinds of honor and benevolent solicitude.

He set up marathoner Kim Gum Ok and her coach as a model of sportsmen when she took the first place at the 14'hAsian Marathon Championships.

And he met the woman footballers who took gold medals at East Asian Cup 2013 and highly praised them who got prize of best player, the prize of top score and chief coach and said they showed well Juche-based tactics, technique, stubborn fighting spirit and might of unity, particularly they gave our army and people faith of certain victory and optimism who were celebrating victorious July 27 by winning gold medals on the occasion of 60"' anniversary of the great Fatherland Liberation War and he expressed firm belief and conviction for them to have greater success in the future.

That day he had a significant picture taken with them and gave them benevolent gifts.

The look of leader Kim Jong Un a broad smile on his face with them and the woman footballers shedding tears of emotion in his bosom show well his unusual affection and feeling for his sports persons.

Korean newspaper Rodong Sinmun on August 10, 2015, carried his congratulatory message to the footballers who got gold medals at the East Asian Cup in large letters.

In his message he called them "admirable and trusty woman footballers who were on a winning streak to take the first", and sent them warm congratulations.

He went on;

"You demonstrated the dignity of the powerful Juche country brilliant with the names of President Kim II Sung and General Kim Jong II by proudly flying the national flag high in the world, made proud gift to the 70'' anniversaries of national liberation and founding of the WPK.

I once again send you, proud daughters of the country and people, warm congratulations and militant greetings in the name of the Party, Government, all army and people. The whole nation is waiting for your return home and I wish you health."

Greater glory and happiness awaited them.

Leader Kim Jong Un went to the airport and warmly greeted them when they came back home.

He shook hands with them one by one, warmly congratulated and had a significant picture taken with them.

Warmly congratulating the proud daughters of the nation who demonstrated the dignity of the powerful Juche Korea and made proud gift to the 70''' anniversaries of the national liberation and founding of the WPK with indomitable spiritual power and guerrilla offensive tactics set forth by the Party, he once again warmly congratulated and gave thanks to them in the name of the Party, Government of the Republic, all the army and people.

The woman footballers were very happy to see him at the first moment they got to the motherland, he whom they always yearned after during the fierce games and looked up to on the dais of honour in tears.

The welcoming crowd warmly mnet them in the airport and over 200,000 working people in the city turned out to the streets to send them greetings. Capital Pyongyang was wrapped with welcome fever.

Busy as he was, leader Kim Jong Un is said to come personally to the airport saying that the sportswomen who made a great success in the world arena were heroines who demonstrated the grandeur and dignity of Korea.

I firmly believe that with this special care of leader Kim Jong Un they will always win in the international games.

With blessed gold medalists ever increasing the day will come soon when Korea stands on the dais of honour of the powerful sports nation.

When sports culture is prosperous on the flower garden of noble love for people, the song of prosperity, cheers of happy people enjoying all blessings and songs of the times praising the noble love for people will resound far and wide.

Who is the owner of the tomb?

The Korean People's Army, revolutionary armed forces of Korea, is an invincible strong army.

Today in the world only the KPA faces squarely the United States which violates the sovereignty of lesser nations posing as "a superpower", brings misery on them clamouring about "freedom," "democracy" and "human rights", and indulges in war and aggression wielding nuclear weapons and other latest war equipment.

What makes the KPA so strong is not only because it is armed with nuclear deterrence, I.C.B.M (intercontinental ballistic missile) and high technology weapons like unmanned striker, cruise missile and self-propelled air-defense missile which big powers are proud of.

More important is the lofty comradeship of KPA Supreme Commander Kim Jong Un.

It can be said that his affection for comrades -in-arms is the core in the personality of leader Kim Jong Un, successor to the former leaders who have strengthened and developed the KPA into an invincible rank.

Among the stories showing his affection I would like to take one, an account on how he became the owner of the tomb of ordinary soldiers.

From olden times Korea has a tradition of inscribing the name of a mourner on the tombstone.

But, there is no precedence that the Supreme Commander of a country, though not a mourner, had his name written on a tombstone made in consolation of the martyrs.

There was an incident in Korea on October 13, 2013.

A KPA submarine chaser 233 was put to sea under an emergency order in order to cope with the large-scale joint military exercises of the United States and South Korea in the East and South Sea of Korea. By the way, the seamen of the ship were all sacrificed on duty.

It is said that leader Kim Jong Un, briefed on their sacrifice, was too sad to sleep and ordered the concerned officials to recover all the bodies from deep sea and hold a funeral ceremony for them.

The divers had a hard time to discover the bodies and their belongings from under the deep and cold sea.

Among the relics scraped and rusted in the saline sea water there was a digital camera on a wrist of a body. Though broken beyond recognition, memory card was left and reproduced finally.

It had pictures such as seamen leaving the port on a military duty, one with a helmet on the head, one on a guard duty, officers and soldiers while on duty looking for an enemy submarine with a sound detector and so on and last images before their sacrifice as they were.

Reported about that leader Kim Jong Un, grieving over their death, saw several times the miniature of the tomb for the dead, fixed the place of the tomb, gave detailed instructions from the form of handrails to the color of the stone and sent building forces.

In the middle of October, 2013 he took measures to put stone pictures on the tombstones and personally saw their original pictures.

He put great efforts in making the picture of all seamen.

On November 1, 2013, he looked round the tombstones built on the round mass grave and saw the stone pictures of brave seamen carved on it one by one.

With bitter sadness he said as follows:

The brave seamen would have spent their days of military service with hope of making feats, the parents would shed tears on the sacrifice of their sons who had left home saying they would return being hero, the wives would have waited for their husbands. All these thoughts are enough to make my heart break. I can well imagine their grief.

Defense of the country needs sacrifice but when I think they have left us at so young age I can not sleep....

So warm is his love for soldiers. He went on;

Tombstone must have the name of the owner of the tomb. I will be the owner of this tomb. Write my name on the tombstone.

Then it will ease my grief...

So the letters of " The owner of the tomb Kim Jong Un, Supreme Commander of the KPA" were engraved on the tomb of brave soldiers.

This is how he became the mourner of martyred seamen.

There are many stories of love and obligation in the world but the fact that the supreme commander became the owner of the tomb of martyrs has not been known yet.

Indeed, he is a personifier of the noblest comradely love and obligation.

The Korean people call this beautiful world of obligation formed between the Supreme Commander and ordinary soldiers a harmonious whole.

It is natural for thousands of millions of soldiers and people to follow him.

It is Korea that is the land of single-hearted unity and harmonious whole where the Supreme Commander and army and people united firm.

Everyone that has ever been to Korea speaks of the single-hearted unity of Korea.

Nobody in the world can match the army and people united firm around their leader.

They call Korea a land of harmonious whole and single-hearted unity.

The harmonious whole means that the people breathe and act like a man and are united firm as a mass and the single-hearted unity means that the people are united with one mind for a common purpose.

Korea has a harmonious whole of leader, Party and popular masses.

The harmonious whole has a brilliant tradition and is carried through generation to generation.

In other words, it is the harmonious whole President Kim II Sung and leader Kim Jong II have made and is carried out and further glorified by leader Kim Jong Un.

Iwould refer to some of the stories on the harmonious whole that yields the invincible vitality of love for people and originated from the bloody anti-Japanese revolution.

In autumn 1950 when Korea had a hard time in the war the US forces made general offensive against Korea, raging that they would occupy the whole of the land before Thanksgiving Day to spend Christmas at home.

The Korean People's Army was making a temporary strategic retreat to the northem border area under the wise plan and intention of President Kim II Sung for final victory.

One night in October, the President met on a ridgeway an old man driving an oxcart in the North Pyongan Province.

The President asked him where he was going. The old man, unaware of the President, replied that we have to follow General Kim II Sung. Only then can we live and our Republic win in the war.

The President said he could meet General Kim if he went to the north with such a mind and encouraged him that we would win in the war as all the people believe in our Party and Republic and follow the People's Army.

Let us think over a moment.

The situation at the time was critical. The destiny of the war was at stake. People would take a way of escape. But the old man did not mind going a long way of trials for the President.

Why?

Because he deeply experiencad only when he follow him, could he win the war and regain happy life and future.

Not only he but also all the Korean people won the war against the United States by dint of harmonious whole that the people believe in the leader and the leader believes in the people.

So did leader Kim Jong II.

In August 1999 he called at a demobilized soldier Ri Gi Son's in the Taehongdan County, a model in potato farming in the country.

Looking round the house, he asked his wife if she was with a child.

She was too shy to answer. Then he asked again to be frank.

The husband replied no in her stead.

Leader Kim Jong II said when children were born and grow up they would be proud of what their parents had done there.

On March 21, 2000, he was there again and acquainted himself with the life of demobilized workers.

That day he called at Min Won Sik's.

His wife volunteered for potato-farming there from capital Pyongyang upholding the leader Kim Jong Il 's calling.

Informed of the fact that she was from the capital, the leader asked her former occupation like a father.

Told that she was with a child he was very happy and asked her when was the last month and if she could give birth to a boy.

She answered "Yes, I will, General."

Her plucky reply made all burst into laughter.

But more surprise was next.

She whispered into the General' ear "Father General, please name my child in memory of your visit to our home."

All were surprised, he generously got her request and promised to do so later when the baby was born.

After the on-the-spot guidance that day he said to the officials;

The wife of a demobilized soldier I met today is past all sense of shame.

She asked me to name her child still to be born as if she met her own father when I entered the room. This can happen only in our country where the whole society has been turned into a big family firmly linked between the leader and the people.

So I said it is good to name the child Taehong if it will be a boy and Hongdan if it a girl. Why?

If the names are added, they become "Taehongdan".

Taehongdan is the name of the place where President Kim Il Sung formed a big farm during the Fatherland Liberation War and the significant place where leader Kim Jong Il initiated the potato farming.

So he named like that with a genuine hope of her own father wishing to glorify the place generation to generation.

This story of a harmonious whole increases and grows more beautiful in the Kim Jong Un era.

One day leader Kim Jong Un appreciated a recreation party of girl soldiers during his field guidance to a girls unit.

Hearing a duet "The sound of General's footsteps", he recalled the painstaking efforts of leader Kim Jong Il who had taken a long and thorny path of revolution.

Saying that the recreation party made him have a firmer faith that he would win in the fight against enemy, he stressed they would be certainly victorious as women get ready like that.

Whenever colorful items such as female solo "The General rides a white horse" were on the stage, he congratulated them on their success.

At the close of the recreation party an official of the unit asked him an unexpected request to sing a song.

Saying Ok, he led the chorus of the song "I Stand to Defend My motherland"

Where I took the first toddle on the golden lawn,
Where I nourished my dream, listening to the Patriotic Song.
The motherland where I have grown up is very precious.

I stand in the trench with a rifle against the chest.
Oh, my dear motherland.

The girl soldiers followed him.

When the song was over, they wanted him another song. Saying Ok this time, too, he said "Let us sing the song 'Where are you dear General?'"

The song is the theme song of revolutionary opera "A true daughter of the P arty" an immortal masterpiece personally written by leader Kim Jong II, which depicts a nurse heroin who goes to the Supreme Commander President Kim II Sung, leading the wounded during the Fatherland Liberation War.

And it is also a hymn of yearning of the Korean people and servicemen for leader Kim Jong II who had continued his field guidance tour day and night after the demise of President Kim II Sung.

Where is now General Where is the fatherly General
When the Big Dipper lights the sky?
Where can Supreme Headquarters be with its light-flooded windows
Where he's sure to be? ...

That day he sang the song shoulder to shoulder and arm in arm with women soldiers. It was a clear view showing what is the single-hearted unity of Korea.

A Korean proverb goes; Natural love descends but it does not ascend.

Today it is political morality of the people to repay leader's noble love with loyalty and it is beautiful mental world of the people in Korea to throw their lives unhesitatingly upholding the leader's idea and will.

Here in lies the might of harmonious whole and single- hearted unity.

Motherly bosom

Korea has an infinitely benevolent mother in its great family.

It is the bosom of the Workers' Party of Korea, motherly Party.

So, the Korean people call the WPK motherly Party and entrust their destiny and future to it.

The poetry "Mother" Korean people love proves the above.

You are my mother!
You have shared my flesh and blood,
Cared for my future,
And kept me from blizzards and death.
You are our mother,
When someone was lost on a battlefield,
You rushed a thousand miles to his rescue
And took him to the red flag flying at the front-
The everlasting bosom, the mother of the revolution!

Ah, I see my life's alpha and omega
In your bosom, Workers' Party of Korea! I would return to your arms.
If I was scattered over the universe or buried in the earth,
I would return as your son.
And, caressed by your gentle glance and warm hands,

I shall call you mother in a childish voice.
I would be nothing without you.

It is great President Kim Il Sung and leader Kim Jong Il who have built the WPK into a motherly Party.

Leader Kim Jong Un has succeeded to the will of them and strengthens and develops it as the motherly Party.

With a deep insight that the point in strengthening the single-hearted unity and the harmonious whole formed in the people centered socio-political climate lies in fortifying and developing the Party into a motherly Party he pays a deep attention to the work.

He earnestly instructed this issue to the Party cell secretaries in his historical speech at the 4'h Conference of Party Cell Secretaries of the WPK in January, 2013.

He said that Party cell is a basic organization as a lowest unit of the WPK. A Party cell secretary is a responsible person of the cell. Party cell is a basic unit connecting blood ties between the Party and the popular masses and is formed and in action everywhere popular masses work and live.

Some of his speech at the conference is as follows :

We must pay a special attention to implanting love for people and spirit of devoted service in the minds of Party members in preparing them as true Kim Il Sung-Kim Jong Il ists.

Kim Il Sung-Kim Jong Ilism is in essence people-first idea and the person who worships people as heaven and serves them devotedly is true Kim Il Sung-Kim Jong Ilist.

Officials and Party members must be true comrades and comrades-in-arms who follow the road of love for people the President and leader Kim Jong Il had taken for all their life.

Party cell should implant the noble outlook on people of the President and leader Kim Jong Il in the minds of officials and Party members so make them serve and love people as their parents.

Party Central Committee has made up its mind to root out power and bureaucracy, noxious plant, in the people-centered socialist garden.

Party cell should help officials and Party members to root out the ideas and prepare themselves as true servants of the people.

In order for the Party to do its mission and duty as a motherly Party, the Party members and officials should have a view of people and popular masses.

The important task at present is to do the work with masses well so to connect broad masses to the Party with blood-sealed ties.

Popular masses are the popular base the Party depends on and an eternal companion to share their fate until the Party achieves final victory.

In order to build a socialist prosperous powerful country in acute confrontation with enemy and reunify the country we must win the love of all the people and win over more people.

We should bring up all people to be strong ones with great power brought by the love and trust of the motherly Party greater than a nuclear weapon and rally them around the Party Central Committee.

All the Party cells must do the work with people so well that they cheer for the WPK....

His speech touches people's heartstrings and is very thoughtful.

The WPK realizes his will of warm human love and great trust as its policy.

All the Korean people call the voice of the WPK one of love and trust.

Korea has many stories unimaginable in other countries.

Some years ago I have read in a foreign newspaper a story on a girl who was drowned.

Long arguments of who would pay for saving the girl and how much it would cost led her die.

Reading it I thought which is first, human life or money.

But in Korea people think it honor to unhesitatingly sacrifice themselves for comrades, society and collective regarding sacred slogan "One for all and all for one" as their faith.

Leader Kim Jong Un thinks it happiest and thankful for Party officials to do their duty well as the officials of the motherly Party.

Rodong Sinmun, organ of the WPK, dated in February 2012 carried an article that the people in Manpho city (northern city) who moved to new houses on the same day under the benevolence of the Party and State sent a message of thanks to him.

Giving thanks to him they wrote that they would offer 100 tons of rice to be used for erecting bronze statue of leader Kim Jong Il in those days erecting his bronze statue began for the first time).

He sent his autographic letter to the chief Party secretaries of Jagang Province and Manpho city.

It is as follows :

I am glad to read the news that the people in Manpho city were happy to have moved to new houses thanks to the General (leader Kim Jong Il) .

In the future the chief secretaries of Jagang Province and Manpho city must have the warm love of the General handed down with the newly built houses and always solve the problems in the life of the people and their bottlenecks in time and carry out popular policies of our Party with the august name of the General by placing priority to the interests of the people.

People in Manpho city suggested that they would send 100 tons of rice prepared with sincerity to the soldiers building the bronze statue of the General, I express gratitude to you for your sincerity. Thank you very much. I accept the sincerity, but decline the spots.

I will report to the great General the pure dedication of the people to him as it is.

I want you to deliver the rice to the people and children in the city as the love of the General upholding the noble will of the great General who devoted his all to the interests and happiness of the people. You should execute what I said.

The letter has made me determine to make a revolution better....

An article on Rodong Sinmun in December 2013 made a great impact on the public again.

The Party committee of the North Hwanghae Province reported him that they conveyed his gifts to orphanages, schools and homes for the aged and the pictures of happy children.

In his reply message to the Party officials he said he felt much easier and told them to solve all problems there, take good care of the children and the aged, in particular bring up the orphans well so that they grow without sorrow of no parents.

Those were the task he personally gave the chief Party secretaries of provinces, cities and counties.

It is natural for the WPK led by leader Kim Jong Un to receive absolute support and trust.

The Korean people report him first what they have in their mind and happy news because the bosom of motherly Party is the very one of leader Kim Jong Un.

At the end of March 2012, the officials and employees at Pyongyang Maternity Hospital, famous palace of babies, sent him a letter of the news that they got 415"' triplets.

In the letter they said they were filled with emotion that if the President who said birth of triplets is an omen for the country to prosper and leader Kim Jong Il who met triplets in military uniforms on his way to front inspection and gave them love and benevolence had got the news, they would have been very happy and they made their firm mind to add luster to the superiority of the socialist health system under the leadership of leader Kim Jong Un.

In his reply message leader Kim Jong Un said he was very happy to have the letter, that the preceding leaders would have been glad, if they were alive and got the news, that he wished them great success in their work for the people and future of the country and serve the people in good faith.

Like this, only in the DPRK leader and people send and receive letters without a pretence.

Invincible is the Korean harmonious whole that people call the Party motherly Party holding a great leader in high esteem as their own parents.

Where is the flower garden of human love?

Where can we find a paradise in which everyone is harmonious, equal and helps and leads each other forward, the one humankind has been waiting for thousands of years?

First of all, I want to tell you the story of Rev. Billy Graham of America when he visited the DPRK.

When he returned to America after his visit to Pyongyang a reporter asked him;

"What has made you fail to transmit the Bible to Korea?"

It was rather a reproof and censure than a question.

He used to say he would make the world happy Eden by achieving philanthropy, love, freedom and democracy with Jesuitism.

Lots of cameras focused on his face and mikes approached his mouth.

He answered after a deep thought with his eyes closed.

"Bible has the will of the God : Love human. But love for human was enforced as a national policy in the country.

The national responsibility of free medical care, free education and food, clothing and housing are the national policy put forth by President who regarded people as the heaven.

The Korean people held him in high esteem as God. Such a country needs no bible, I am sure."

It means Korea is a human paradise where Master has nothing to do.

Ruizer Rinser, a famous woman writer of Germany and a Christian, admired the rare reality of the Korean society, vividly expressed "God has moved to north Korea."

The great harmonious socialist family!

This is the real looks of Korean style socialism based on collectivism.

On several occasions of visit to Korea I thought Korea is a flower garden of love for humankind.

It is the beautiful life of the Korean society that all people live a harmonious life helping and leading each other forward as a family.

People dedicate their lives for their revolutionary comrades, young people married honored wounded soldiers, take orphans and helpless old people as their kinsmen.

These are commonplace in Korea under the slogan "One for all and all for one".

One of them is a story of Pak Thea Son, collier, highly praised by leader Kim Jong Un as a good man.

But he always thought others before himself took a van of hard and difficult work.

He dedicated his life at a critical moment to save other colliers when a 3-ton size rock was caving in in the heading.

Countless are such people in Korea.

Some years ago a soldier who had badly burned was rushed to a hospital.

Informed of the fact that he would have the second skin transplantation, hundreds of students and many teachers ran to the hospital.

There were already many soldiers in the corridor in front of the operating room.

The soldiers earnestly appealed to the doctors to cut their skin first for their valuable comrade-in arms.

Pushing them aside the students called upon the doctors to do so.

They said "Now is a critical moment when maneuverings resembling an eve of war are taking place every day in south Korea. Soldiers must get ready to cope with them. It is unthinkable to make a scar on their bodies. People never tolerate it. We will all dedicate our skin to the patient. So don't worry ...."

It was a noble story which can be heard and witnessed nowhere in the world.

This is the story showing what spiritual world, comradeship and blood ties great army-people unity is based on.

Indeed, it is the Korean people who live with deep blood relations you can never understand.

It is Korea where such people live.

There are no outsiders in Korea where all people are in a harmonious great family.

6. We know saltiness only tasting a drop of sea water.

Five years passed by since leader Kim Jong Un has appeared on the world political arena.

It is not so long span of time for a career of a statesman. But many stories touching the people's heartstring have been made during the days.

The unusual anecdotes carry the superb leadership and noble attribute of leader Kim Jong Un just like the great President Kim Il Sung and leader Kim Jong Il.

Good catch and souvenir picture

Leader Kim Jong Un visited August 25 fishery office.

Informed of the fact that they had an unusual good catch for more than 30 years he looked round the storehouse packed with fish preserved in salt with bright smile on his face all the time.

Looking at heaps of fish in the salting tanks he said he couldn't leave the place and suggested having pictures taken with fish for soldiers in a background.

After that he called the officials to have a picture taken sitting on the salting tank smeared with fish scales and saltwater.

Looking at frozen fish blocks piled up from the floor to the ceiling in a freezer he said they looked like heaps of munitions cases in a magazine and also suggested having pictures taken there too.

After having pictures taken he said he heard soldiers were regularly supplied with fish and was very glad to think they would be very healthy.

One official said soldiers wrote to their parents that they eat more fish than at home, but the parents would not believe them.

Then, leader Kim Jong Un said when they see the picture of him in front of heaps of fish, they would believe. The parents of soldiers would be very happy. Indeed it is the pleasure of making a revolution. The significant pictures on that day were carried on the Rodong Sinmun, organ of the Workers' Party of Korea and on TV.

The picture of benevolent leader Kim Jong Un with a bright smile on his face in front of heaps of fish tells his warm love for soldiers.

The first place of his visit.

When leader Kim Jong Un visited a factory the officials were going to take him to a streamlined production site.

But he asked them where welfare facilities are. Then he wanted to show them first and went there.

Looking round a dressing room he said the bush-clover baskets on the shelf are very good. The baskets are used for workers to keep their belongings and clothes.

He told the officials to make many baskets and use them widely and headed towards the dining room.

There were delicious bread and butter, various kinds offoods and drinks on the tables.

He personally tasted drinks and bread and told the suites to do so.

Watching them tasting the foods he told them to say their impressions.

He gave them important instructions to improve the supply for workers.

That day he visited the workers' dormitory, too.

He inquired into clean and cozy bedrooms and heating conditions and praised the officials for them.

Feeling the quality of blankets he said he was very glad the workers use such good quality blankets.

The first place of his visit for guidance would always be the dining rooms, dormitories and welfare facilities for workers before production places.

In an indoor swimming pool

An indoor swimming pool was completed in Kim Il Sung University in autumn 2009.

Built under the solicitude of leader Kim Jong Il it is a smart pool not inferior to any other in the world in its magnificence.

Leader Kim Jong Un visited it on December 11, 2009.

Looking at the professors and students swimming in the pool he asked a senior official if there are emergency measures in the pool.

Pointing to the infirmary near the wading pool, the officials answered the emergency measures are done there.

Then he asked again whether it was equipped with enough apparatuses for an artificial resuscitation and first-aid in case of accident.

The officials replied there are only some simple ones and beds in the room.

He told them to get a complete suite of treatment apparatuses as instructed by the great leader Kim Jong Il.

Later the infirmary was fully furnished.

Leader Kim Jong Un who values people most and loves them infinitely does not go by even a trifling fault others are apt to look over and corrects them.

Order of withdrawal makes people weep

There was a heavy flood in the Sinuiju region on the lower River Amnok flowing along the northern frontier of Korea.(Sinuiju, border city, is below the level of the River Amnok. So sometimes it is flooded. A dike was built there.)

The city had been flooded in 1995 and 1996, too, but this time a heavier flood threatened the city.

Informed of the situation leader Kim Jong Un gave an immediate order for the Korean People's Army units to rush to reinforce the dike.

So a commanding team was formed to keep the Sinuiju-Uiju region from the flood and soldiers were dispatched.

Leader Kim Jong Un kept being briefed by the senior official of the provincial Party committee through a phone call everyday. And he stressed to the official to avail of this opportunity to free the city permanently from any flood.

Still anxious, he was updated with the situation on his field guidance tour and said that the great General Kim Jong Il was much concerned about the prevention of the flood.

He stressed on mobilizing people's army to save the lives and properties of the people and finish the dike project at a stroke so as to free the people from the flood damage forever.

The soldiers saved all the people who were at the crossroads of life and death owing to the sudden flood and finished the project successfully only for 15 days, I was told.

Watching the soldiers running with heavy sacks of earth on their shoulders the people brought many kinds of delicious foods for them.

But it was in vain, for the soldiers had already withdrawn.

Informed of the report that the dike project for prevention of flood had been rounded off the day before, leader Kim Jong Un ordered the units of the Korean People's Army to withdraw.

The magnanimous measure made the people shed tears.

Only leader Kim Jong Un who regards the people's convenience and benefit as absolute could give such an order.

His order is an infinite love and respect for the people, indeed.

Okyu Restaurant in Pyongyang is well known.

Cold noodle, traditional dish of Korea, had been served there, but a new restaurant specializing in dishes was built on the occasion of the 65'" founding anniversary of the Workers' Party of Korea.

The two-storied restaurant of Korean style abutting on the main building of Okryu Restaurant has a total floor space of thousands of square meters.

It is one of modem service centers built under the warm care of leader Kim Jong II.

Leader Kim Jong Un came to Okryu Restaurant on October 17, 2010. Expressing his satisfaction over building it within 6 months he said that people would be pleased at the many newly-built modern creations conducive to the betterment of the people's livelihood such as the restaurant specializing dishes.

When he visited again the restaurant on February 2, 2011 , he asked officials if many people come there.

He asked again what dishes people like best.

Officials replied "The dishes of sturgeon and turtle are very popular."

With satisfaction he said "Okryu Restaurant must not serve for cadres but for the people exclusively. Since this year a stress is given to the light industry public catering should thoroughly serve the people."

How the old gets young

At night in an early autumn leader Kim Jong Un said to an official "I heard you moved to a new house some days ago. Let's go to see it."

The official replied "It's too late." Declining his answer, the leader got into the car ahead.

The official followed him but he was at a loss what to do as he hadn't got ready to have the leader at his house.

Leader Kim Jong Un asked him "What do you think your wife doing?"

He answered "She would be fast asleep, I'm sure.·

With a bright smile on his face leader Kim Jong Un said he would appraise the official's vitality in his house.

He saw round two living rooms, a kitchen and a washroom. He said "That will do. I think it suits your couple."

After looking at tiles on the floor of the vestibule, he said that officials shouldn't follow "trend" blindly.

Tiles on the floor make people feel cold. It is not good for health; all the worse for the old.

Looking at clumsy painting on the door to the upper room he said he has got it and then explained that a girdle would improve the door.

And he said there must be a dressing table in the vestibule.

The official said they needn't it as they are old.

Leader Kim Jong Unsaid the older one is, the deeper attention he must pay to his attire. And when their attire is bad, it is not good for social atmosphere and the others speak ill of their children.

The official regretted his improper words on it and said "Yes, you are right."

The leader said it is good to have a recorder and box of cassettes under it.

Leader Kim Jong Un said he would send a set of cassettes of music by Pochonbo electronic band.

With a smile on his face he said then the others would not look down upon them and went on 'Well, you are a lover of music, aren't you?"

He said "A song makes life worth living. The older one gets, the more intentionally he should make a life cultured and cheerful. Only then, can you regain youthfulness."

The official said "Quite Right. Thank you."

So the old couple could have a dressing table, recorder and box of cassettes in their house.

Whenever people envy them in their youth, the couple would say •It is thanks to the benevolence of leader Kim Jong Un."

·seaworld" in the Rungna Dolphinarium

There is an island called Rungnado on Taedong River in Pyongyang.

Seawater from the West Sea flows to this dolphinarium through pipeline which stretches more than 40 kilometers.

Here in this "sea world" people have a good time, watching dolphins' performance.

The dolphinarium resembles a wonderful sea world.

This is associated with the scrupulous and benevolent affection of leader Kim Jong Un. He wanted the people to enjoy sea world in the centre of the capital.

On June 30, 2012, leader Kim Jong Un came to the construction site of the dolphinarium near completion to acquaint himself with the preparation of its opening on the spot.

That day he paid a special attention to making it as a wonderful building which makes people remind of a sea world so as to increase the cultural sentiment of the people visited there to see the dolphins' performance.

After seeing the dolphins• performance in the hall he said the picture backstage depicts seascape well and the scene painting is like a real sea far better than photograph.

An official there told him the artists were trying to put a sculpture of sea gull sitting on a rock to make the environment true to life and he said if they do so, it would be very nice.

Looking carefully at the blue floor of the stage, he asked an official if the stage conforms to the international standard.

The official replied yes, but he said no, and continued.

'"The color of the stage floor is blue like other countries but in my opinion the color of sandy beach is better than that.

You've painted the stage blue according to the international standard but whatever we should do in our own way in conformity with our people's aesthetical sentiments.

It is our standard to do so."

He gave a detailed account of how to depict seascape vividly and write a good introductory remark to use after the inauguration of the dolphinarium.

The natural cave-like room for scientific knowledge is also associated with his benevolent instruction.

Originally they planned to install there several aquariums with varied fish.

From the entrance he looked about the walls and the ceiling on which rocks, fauna and flora of sea were represented. And he counseled them to install TVs instead of aquariums to show the representation of the sea world including the knowledge of various fishes conforming to the mission of the room for scientific knowledge.

And he took measures for them to get scientific and technological data from the organs concerned.

In a corridor he instructed they should install there with an indirect blue LED light illumination, so that the visitors feel that they enter into the sea.

Today the visitors are deeply moved by the love for people of leader Kim Jong Un seeing the enchanted seascape there. He has ensured to build the dolphinarium in a peculiar way totally different from the ones in other countries built for the purpose of money making.

The Korean people give thanks to leader Kim Jong Un whose love for people is greater than the sea.

Supreme Commander and pilot's wife

After inspecting the training flight of an air unit of the Korean People's Army January 30, 2012, Supreme Commander of the KPA leader Kim Jong Un is said to have called at the house of the regimental commander of the unit, a hero of the Republic.

Receiving the wife's greeting he said he had long thought of calling on the family once and asked her if she was preparing supper. When he entered the vestibule she told him to put on slippers because the floor was cold. Declining with thanks, he said that since the room is used by them he could not do that and closely looked round the cupboard, crockery on the shelf, boiling pots and all other utensils in the kitchen.

When she was sorry to have him in her house without proper preparation he said such a sudden visit makes him know anyone's life well, and the kitchen is so large that she would be easy to do the cooking.

Leader Kim Jong Un had a close look at the souvenir photographs with the great leaders, citation from leader Kim Jong II and certificate for the title of a hero of the Republic. Personally feeling the cold floor at a comer of the room with his hands, he told the senior officers of the air unit to look after the life of pilots.

Looking at the family photographs he said they had no son but three daughters and asked her where they live and what they do.

She answered that the eldest daughter was demobilized and got married and the second and the third are officers.

He remembered seeing the third on training when he had inspected a unit and was very glad.

He asked her that the wives of pilots had to take a good care of their husbands, saying only when the wives take good care of them, can the pilots do their duty well.

Leader Kim Jong Un had pictures taken with the couple on both sides.

A visit to an educator's family

On September 4, 2012, leader Kim Jong Un called at an educator's family which moved to a new flat in Changjon Street.

It was said that in the flat he acquainted himself with the rooms any inconveniences for living. He personally turned on a tap in the toilet room.

Then he sat together with the family members in a vestibule.

He asked what they all do.

Learning that the householder is a university lecturer, his wife a teacher at a middle school, the first daughter a middle school teacher and the second a college teacher, he said that all family members are educators, such a family is not common, education is an important work concerned with a rise and fall of the country and expressed his confidence that all the educators in the family would do their work well.

He asked if they have any inconvenience in life. They thanked him for giving such a fine flat. He said it is good for them to like the flat and so is he.

He went on; if General Kim Jong Il had been alive, he would have called at the house first, in place of the General he thought he would visit the house in person.

As it is a custom to take a match box to the family moving to a new house he handed over boxes of matches to them and poured a cup of wine he had brought to the householder.

He gave them also color TV set, sets of dishes and collections of children's stories.

As there were no children to read the stories, he asked them to keep them well and show them to grandchildren in future.

Saying that the educators are unknown patriots who devote their conscience to the future of the country he went on; the efforts and devotion of teachers for rising generation are not tangible at the moment but they surely bear fruit in future.

It is natural for teachers to have such a fine flat. As the root of a gigantic tree can't be seen the teachers' devotion and true feelings are not seen at present but they can be seen by the next generation who will devote themselves to the prosperity of the country. This family is one of the educators' families who devote their conscience to bringing up the future of the country. I feel worthy of my visit.

It is said that before he left the house he asked them to do educational work well.

Such lofty love and trust of the leader, which values highly the patriotism of the householder who dedicates his life to education and had his wife and daughters stand for educators, is the greatest love which is not limited to an ordinary educators' family but to all Korean people.

It is the essence of love for rising generation and people which any politicians of other countries can not have, I think.

A joint national meeting of the Korean Children's Union was held to mark the 66"' founding anniversary in the Kim Il Sung Stadium.

Just before the meeting leader Kim Jong Un was briefed by the officials that a boy without a certificate from a locality was begging them to admit him to take part in the meeting outside the stadium.

Informed of the fact that grand functions would be held in Pyongyang on the occasion of the 66"' founding anniversary of the Korean Children's Union, he ran long distance to Pyongyang alone without a certificate.

It was wonderful.

His eagerness to come to Pyongyang made him do such a bold action.

There might be some unspoken reasons.

Leader Kim Jong Un considered it with broad mind.

On the spot the leader took an unprecedented special measure to have him get a certificate and taken part in the meeting.

So the boy could get the 20001" certificate, took part in the meeting and heard the historic congratulatory speech of leader Kim Jong Un at first hand.

He had a picture taken with the leader with a smile on his face.

It happened just before a few minutes before the meeting began.

More words to add

Today a new era called Songun era started in the DPRK by the immortal devotion of leader Kim Jong Il. He developed the original Songun politics based on the Juche idea and Songun idea created by the great President Kim Il Sung nearly a century ago, enriched them over the century and put them in force in practical reality.

Korea advancing along the way of independence, Songun and socialism without a slight vacillation or deviation despite the isolation and stifling efforts of imperialist powers has been saliently recorded in the annals of the world politics.

Closely looking at Korea adding luster to the Songun era and developing day after day I was enchanted infinitely to the great Songun politics and published many books on it.

Moreover, I volunteered to be a supporter, advocator and explainer of the Songun politics, set up an organization the "International Central Committee for Songun Study", actively run it.

Now I wrote a book on the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un because I keenly felt, watching the development of the political situation of Korea since the sudden death of respected Kim Jong Il, that he is a benevolent leader of the people who is enforcing politics loving the people just as President Kim Il Sung and leader Kim Jong Il had done.

Finishing this booklet I am all the more attracted to Korea in the East.

It is a fortune of fortunes for Korea that she is led by leader Kim Jong Un because she will continue to illuminate the way forward as she had done with the original ideas of the era such as the Juche idea and the Songun idea in every era.

Korea is changing day by day with successive great events by the love-the-people politics of leader Kim Jong Un who is possessed of the warm love and benevolence for the people the preceding leaders had.

It is an obvious fact that Korea will soar up onto the summit of the world as a prosperous socialist power with the unprecedented development.

It is just a matter of time.

Nobody can imagine when and how the historic event will take place.

But I can assert that nobody can measure or predict the width, depth and tempo because the political mode of leader Kim Jong Un who carries forward leader Kim Jong Il 's Songun politics brilliantly, in other words, his politics of love for people and rising generation is absolutely original and warm.

The more powerful explosion is, the great the might is.

This is neither guess nor fancy but conviction and faith kept deep in my mind while I study the Songun politics and politics of love for people.

Korea is leaping forward and advancing higher and faster at the speed of at a stroke"

Leader Kim Jong Il said: The word "impossible" is not to be found in the Korean vocabulary.

This wise remark is kept deep in the mind of the Korean people.

Korea can do anything when they are determined to do.

The day of their victory is not far even though they are building a prosperous and powerful socialist country under all sorts of sanctions, pressure, isolation and blockade of the United States and its followers.

I've mentioned "Let's cover this planet with the song of Songun international" in the book "Songun international" vol.2.

I am sure this song today is a march of victory of the global independence.

As I mentioned in the book vol.2 only when this song covers the world the cause of the global independence will be successfully completed and the whole world march into the prosperous independent new world to the tune of the "Songun International".

Looking forward to the historic day I once again stress to the readers who love justice, truth and peace:

"The paean of Leader Kim Jong Un's love for the people will echo far and wide with Songun International on this planet."

"Long live the great Kim Jong Un's politics!"
"Long live Songun politics of the DPRK!"
